Leftists Threaten Civil War In Italy

Police Move To Quell Street Disorders

ROME (AP)—Italy's rioting leftist leadership today threatened to plunge the nation into civil war.

The threat came as police here braced for more Communist vs. Fascist trouble after a night of rioting in the streets and fistfights in Parliament.

In the worst week of disorders since early postwar days, nearly 500 leftist demonstrators have been injured in fighting from Genoa down to Sicily. More than 200 police have been hurt—135 of them in Rome last night.

Sen. Emilie Lusso, a pro-Communist Socialist leader, told a Senate session that if Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democrat government does not resign it will turn into "a government of civil war."

But Gaspare Pignatelli, a Christian Democrat, replying to Communist charges of police brutality, shouted defiantly: "Clubs are not enough. Tanks are needed."

A wave of general strikes called by leftists began to hit every major city in Italy.

Rome was under a general strike from 1 p.m. until midnight, called by the Chamber of Labor protesting police action against the rioters.

Half a dozen other major cities were similarly affected. More strikes were called in others by the Red-controlled Italian Federation of Labor.

Rome looked like an armed camp.

Rome police headquarters banned public meetings in an attempt to forestall Fascist rallies.

Police were stationed on side streets near strategic squares.

Some 150 demonstrators were injured, and more than 50, including two leftist members of Parliament, were hospitalized.

Rioting produced a turbulent Senate session today as Socialists and Communists howled

Congo Troops End Revolt, Free Officers

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP)—A revolt in the army of the Congo collapsed today, and two centers of resistance —Thysville and Leopoldville—returned to shaky normality.

At Stanleyville, however, inmates of the jail smashed down doors and ran through the city shouting "freedom, independence."

Information Minister Anicet Kashamura said soldier mutineers at Camp Hardy in Thysville had surrendered their arms.

OFFICERS RELEASED

The Belgian officers they had held in confinement were released and resumed command.

Kashamura added, however, that some of these officers probably would be relieved of assignments as a result of the resignation of Lt. Gen. Emile Janssens, commander in chief of the army.

Kashamura made it clear Janssens actually was fired by the new Congo government.

RETURN TO BARRACKS

In Leopoldville, most mutineers had returned to their barracks late today, a spokesman said.

Police and military forces were called out in Stanleyville, just below scenic Stanley Falls 775 miles northeast of Leopoldville, as the demonstrators assembled before the government building.

The new outbreak occurred while Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu were at Thysville to help straighten out the problems there.

Castro Blasts U.S. For Cut In Sugar Quota

Many Americans Reported Set To Pull Out Of Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—A growing number of Americans were reported preparing to pull out of Cuba today in the face of probable seizure of all remaining U.S.-owned property and the possibility of increasing anti-Americanism.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro underscored the deteriorating situation with another denunciation of the United States for slashing Cuba's sugar quota yesterday.

BIG EXODUS

There has been a big exodus of American residents from Cuba in the past year, reducing from 6,000 to about 3,000 the number left here. But in the face of worsening Cuban-American relations, the exodus is being stepped up, with private companies getting their employees and families out of the country—even though the U.S. Embassy is not urging Americans to leave.

In an angry post-midnight two-hour speech before the closing session of the Metal Workers Union Congress, Castro said last night the United States slashed the Cuban sugar quota in a "frenzy of hate."

FIRST REACTION

This was his first public reaction to President Eisenhower's action in cutting the sugar quota. Castro declared that the "real fight" is just starting with the United States. He charged that Washington was trying to run Cuba and ruin its economy.

But Castro surprised some observers by failing to announce specific reprisals for the sugar cut in his speech.

It was believed now that he may purposely wait until a scheduled television address Friday night.

Or he may decree American sugar mills and perhaps other property nationalized when he appears before a monster protest rally called by the Cuban Workers Federation for Sunday afternoon.

SCIENTISTS DISCOVER CLUE TO 'DEATH RAY'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Man has achieved a true amplification of light, a feat long sought by scientists throughout the world. The possibilities are enormous and include the horror weapon of science fiction, "the death ray."

It was done in the research laboratories of the Hughes Aircraft Company at Culver City, and was announced today by Dr. Theodore H. Maiman, who headed the scientific team which did it.

Light produces heat, among other qualities. If you could truly amplify it, you could focus it onto incredibly tiny points over incredible distances. The heat of light amplified to a great degree would vaporize anything it was focused upon. The Hughes research established the principle by which this can be done.

Maiman spoke of light and heat intensities greater than those emerging from the very center of the sun, and visualized vaporing parts of bacteria which are so tiny they're visible only under the microscope. He spoke at a press conference organized by the Hughes company.

More Policing Due For Cascade Area

The Mill Valley City Council agreed unanimously early today that more police patroling is necessary in the vicinity of Cascade Dam, where residents claim teen-agers are causing a dangerous situation.

Acting Mayor George W. Blackwell said, "If Police Chief James P. McGowan says he wants an extra officer, we will have to go into it." Blackwell authorized City Manager A. E. Almcrants to follow up an investigation into the matter.

Complaints were made in a letter by 19 residents of the outer Cascade Drive and Lovell Avenue area that teen-agers have made their neighborhood a place of peril.

About a dozen residents of the area appeared at the meeting, but by the time the matter came up at 12:30 a.m., the number had dwindled to six. Three of them spoke on the matter.

Robert F. Dagley of 974 Lovell Avenue said the letter had been sent to the city manager on his request. He said the letter was not a threat but a plea for more frequent police patrolling of the area.

"When you call the police," he said, and "ask them to come out regarding someone swimming at the dam or someone shouting at your wife and the police do not come, then you get a little worried. This is more than a laughing matter."

Blackwell told Dagley, "When you call the police and no one comes, call the city manager or the mayor or one of the city councilmen."

Dagley said, "The police actually told me that they didn't like to patrol that area because it was rough on the tires." He added that even a street light on the corner which he termed the "neckers' paradise" would help.

Almcrants said, "If you want a street light, all you have to do is to request it."

Councilman George D. Monardo put in: "If I were living on that street I would feel the same way as they do. If we can get another report at the next meeting, these people would have confidence in their city council."

"I echo what you say," said Councilman Joseph F. Sheeks. "Because they may pay less in taxes, they are not entitled to less in services. One thing that concerns me is the emphasis on stopping swimming out there. I don't think that is the major problem."

Rex Johnson of 933 Lovell said he would like to verify that the facts in the letter have actually occurred and "are not boisterous playful children out on a lark. They are becoming actually menacing and dangerous." He said residents had received

Sewer Ballot Set Sept. 13 In Belvedere

Belvedere residents will vote Sept. 13 on a proposal for a $450,000 bond issue to construct a sewage treatment plant.

The bond election date was set by the city council this week.

The sewage problem has been plaguing Belvedere since 1948, when the State of California ordered that communities cease dumping raw sewage into costal waters. For some years, part of Belvedere sewage has been treated by the Tiburon Sanitary District, but some has gone untreated because of lack of capacity.

The Bay Area Regional Water Pollution Control Board last winter laid down a February deadline for action by Belvedere to correct the situation. On Feb. 10, the Belvedere City Council voted to combine with the Tiburon Sanitary District, with Belvedere paying its share of expansion of the district's treatment facilities.

Dr. John H. Flint, then sanitary adviser to the city and now a city councilman, estimated Belvedere's share of the expansion would cost $440,400. The bond issue is proposed to finance this cost.

Soviets End Tests With New Rocket

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union completed its current series of rocket tests in the Pacific Ocean with a final shot today, and announced that "all necessary data has been obtained" for the next step in the conquest of space.

The official Soviet Tass news agency announced the firing today of a "new, powerful multi-staged" ballistic rocket in the Soviet Union's Central Pacific range.

Tass said the rocket, the second and last of the current series, traveled about 8,078 miles and landed right on target.

"As a result of the launchings," Tass said, "all the necessary data has been obtained for the completion of the carrier rocket intended for the further conquest of cosmic space."

The first rocket in this series was fired Tuesday, and was reported to have traveled precisely the same distance.

"In connection with the good results of both launchings of rockets," Tass said, "the need for continuing tests of this type of rocket no longer exists."

Therefore, it added, it was authorized to state that the Pacific area closed to shipping and aircraft during the test period will be opened again starting tomorrow.

UNFAIR COMPETITION?

Committee Probes Prison Barber Shop

An Assembly committee today sought to determine whether it's unfair competition when a San Quentin prisoner clips the warden's locks or shaves his cheeks.

The Assembly Committee on Industrial Relations toured Marin's big prison this morning to have a look at the barber shop facilities. This afternoon, it was taking testimony in San Francisco from prison officials and civilian barbers.

Custodial officers at the prison pay $1.50 per month dues to the San Quentin Employees' Mutual Benefit Assn. Included in the mutual benefits is a six-chair barber shop, staffed by inmates.

The wardens and guards put their faces trustfully in the hands of the inmate barbers, some of whom were licensed barbers before they ran afoul of the law and all of whom have a top security classification that permits them the maximum freedom allowed prisoners. No officer has ever had his throat cut in a prison barber chair, according to prison officials—although the barbers use straight-edge razors.

Entirely separate is the inmate barber shop inside the walls, where prisoners get their regular haircuts from a large staff of fellow prisoners (who don't use straight-edge razors and don't give shaves).

With haircuts going at $2 per clip in union barber shops in Marin, the Assembly committee wonders whether the Employees' Mutual Benefit Assn. may be giving too much benefits.

The inmate barbers get paid —although scarcely on the scale of outside wielders of the clippers and shears (of course, they don't have to pay rent or buy their meals or clothing). The lead barber gets $9 per month, according to Associate Warden Dale B. Frady. The others get $6 per month. They can draw on this money for prison purchases, or let it pile up against the day of release.

Navy Lashed For 'Blind' Use Of Blimps

BARNEGAT, N. J. (UPI) — A leading authority on lighter-than-airships charged today the loss of a giant Navy blimp with 18 of its crewmen in the Atlantic yesterday resulted largely from the Navy's "blind refusal" to use old-style rigid diragibles rather than blimps.

Navy divers and frogmen descended into 55 feet of water seeking bodies of 17 men trapped when the airship ZPG3W "collapsed like a banana" during a mercy flight and nosed down into the Atlantic 15 miles off the New Jersey coast. An 18th crewman died after rescue. Only three survived. (See story on page 3.)

Retired vice Adm. C. E. Rosendahl, for years the top airship expert in America, said the tragedy "undoubtedly related to the questionable wisdom of building such large airships on the non-compartmented or blimp principle." He demanded "neutral" investigation.

Australia Boy Kidnaped; Dad Won Lottery

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — The 8-year-old son of a traveling salesman who won nearly a quarter of a million dollars in a lottery was kidnaped on his way to school today. Two hours later his mother received a telephone demand for $56,000 ransom.

The disappearance of Frederick Hilton Thorne set off one of the biggest police hunts in Australia's history. Australians were shocked by what appeared to be the first known instance of the kidnaping of a child for money here.

OPERA LOTTERY

Frederick's father Basil Thorne, 37, won the $224,000 first prize in the Sydney Opera House lottery last month.

The boy left home as usual at 8 o'clock this morning, wearing his grey school uniform and carrying his lunch and books under his arm. He had to walk about 100 yards to meet Mrs. Phyllis Smith. Mrs. Smith, a family friend, accompanies young Thorne to school every day.

When the usually punctual boy failed to show up on time, Mrs. Smith went to the Thorne apartment to inquire. A quick telephone check disclosed he had not gone to school alone.

POLICE ALERTED

At 9 o'clock, Mrs. Thorne and Mrs. Smith alerted police.

An hour later, Mrs. Thorne received a telephone call from a man who, she said, spoke in a gutteral voice. She said he demanded 25,000 Australian pounds for the return of her son.

Mrs. Thorne fainted and slumped to the floor.

After she was revived, Mrs. Thorne said she could recall only that the caller spoke English with a foreign accent.

Chamber Withdraws Plan For Billboard

An application to install a giant tourist-attracting sign at Ignacio today was withdrawn by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce because it might endanger the county's case against billboard companies.

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan told chamber directors yesterday that their sign application might jeopardize the county's defense of its sign ordinance.

Outdoor advertising companies against whom District Att. William O. Weissich filed criminal complaints last year for billboards standing without permits, countered by filing a civil suit arguing that the county's billboard ordinance was unconstitutional. The suit will come to trial in September, Jordan said.

Withdrawal of the application had nothing to do with announced opposition of the Marin Conservation League, said Burton R. Kirchner, chamber president.

In a letter received today by the Marin County Planning Commission, which had scheduled a public hearing next Monday on the billboard application, chamber manager Richard L. Shirley said:

"Information has come to us today (July 6) revealing it may not be in the best interests of Marin County for us to request permission to erect a visitor's information sign at this time. We therefore request postponement of our application until such time when we re-apply."

Directors of the Marin Conservation League, which had been mobilized to send a sizeable protest delegation to Monday's hearing, last night adopted a resolution to be sent to the planning commission and to the county board of supervisors.

"We expressed deep concern over the request of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce to erect a huge billboard near Ignacio. We urged that both the planning commission and the board of supervisors deny this variance to the zoning ordinance," said Mrs. Norman B. Livermore, league president.

The vote was unanimous. "We've been fighting billboards for 23 years," said Mrs. Livermore. "We couldn't let this slip by."

Marin Hospital Raises Room Rates $2 A Day

Marin General Hospital rates will go up $2 per day at midnight tonight, bringing the price of a bed in a two-bed ward to $24 a day.

The new rate will apply only to patients admitted after midnight, hospital directors announced.

Additional revenue from the rate raise is expected to total $106,000 during the new fiscal year.

The increase brings the tax-supported hospital in line with rates charged at San Rafael General Hospital, which raised room rates on May 13. A bed in a two-bed ward at Ross General Hospital is now $25 a day, the result of an increase on May 15.

Hospital directors claim Marin General charges the second-lowest rates of 13 hospitals in the Bay Area as shown by a survey completed on July 1.

The rate raise was necessary said Dr. Wilson P. Goddard, chairman of the board, to offset an anticipated $105,000 increase in operating expenses for the new fiscal year. Increases included $38,500 for maternity service staffing; $16,800 expected to be spent on new services and equipment; $48,800 for salary increases; $34,400 to pay for increased costs of medical services and supplies; and $9,900 for miscellaneous and depreciation.

The latest figures released by the hospital board revealed a net profit of $37,663 from July 1, 1959 throught May 31 of this year. According to administrator S. Ames Pence, this figure represents 2.3 per cent of the hospital's operating expenses for the same period, which totaled $1,612,409.

Novato Fetes Officers In Hamilton Shift

Four Hamilton Air Force Base officers were special guests at a farewell party last night in Novato.

Civic representatives, including Mayor Wayne Womack and County Supervisor William Gnoss, were included in the 57 persons who attended the party at Cloud Five.

Col. George Ceuleers, base commander who formally gives up Command July 16 at public ceremonies, was given a certificate of appreciation by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Other officers honored were Gen. Charles Bond, commander of the 28th Air Division-SAGE, who will move at some future time to Beale Air Force Base near Marysville; Col. Herbert Sears, chief of information services for Western Air Defense Forces, who will become a director of material at Robins Air Force Base, Macon, Ga.; Col. Rupert Welch, deputy for personnel for the 28th Air Division, to become commander of Kingsley Field, Klamath Falls, Ore.

Ceuleers will atend the National War College at Washington, D.C.

Some Raises Planned By Dry Cleaners

Marin County dry cleaners aren't joining in the concerted price boost scheduled in San Francisco July 15.

But some are making individual raises which they feel overdue.

"Don't quote me but I've just gone up," said one San Rafael cleaner. "Contrary to reports, our prices are and have been lower than San Francisco and we haven't been raised since 1958.

"We were going up last June but the effort failed. So what with our own higher prices we are far under what should be charged for quality dry cleaning, yet unable to go to the point we should, for fear of pricing ourselves out of the market."

This operator's price has gone from $1.95 to $2.10 for cleaning a man's suit.

PUBLIC WILL BE HEARD

San Rafael Won't 'Rush' 101 Accord

By WAT TAKESHITA

San Rafael will not "rush through" an agreement with the state for a widened freeway through the city until after residents have had plenty of opportunity to express themselves and the city councilmen are satisfied the route will be in the best interest of the city.

This assurance last night by Mayor John F. McInnis was greeted with applause by an audience that packed the city council chamber, as city fathers held another in a series of public discussions of the proposed widening of San Rafael overpass.

The next public discussion is set for 8 p.m. July 18 in the city hall.

Mayor McInnis declared councilmen want to hear individual gripes and suggestions, either in person or by letter, so that councilmen will be fully acquainted with the effect of the freeway before they begin negotiations with the California Division of Highways.

The project calls for widening Highway 101 to eight lanes, from California Park overpass to Puerto Suello Hill. The state has presented several plans. The one it considered most feasible is a new viaduct to the west of the present San Rafael overpass. The plan also calls for acquisition of land in the Irwin-Lindaro Street area for an interchange.

Some of the suggestions and questions posed by residents last night include these:

Arnold T. Bertolli of 8 Bradcliff Court suggested hiring an expert to work with the city so logical arguments for the best route can be presented to the highway officials.

E. M. Shanley of 1604 Grand Avenue agreed and wondered whether a new freeway route from San Quentin wye, across San Rafael Canal and toward McNear's Point, would be feasible. "Is a depressed freeway through San Rafael (instead of overpasses) unfeasible?" Shanley asked. He said he and the Community Preservation League object to the proposed Linden Lane exit off Highway 101.

Walter M. Baird of 1644 Grand Avenue saw the need for looking ahead 20 or 30 years so that proper access to San Rafael will be provided. He said the highway officials are interested only in moving traffic, and San Rafael will have to fend for itself.

Henry Schubart Jr., representing Dominican College, said none of the college property will be taken, but he is concerned with increased traffic on Grand Avenue that would be brought by the Linden Lane off-ramp. Also, the height of the new viaduct will raise the level of cars, especially around Linden Lane. Unless some screening is provided, the noise will become deleterious, he said.

Widening to eight lanes may knock out trees that now shield the commercial area of Lincoln Avenue, Schubart pointed out. This may expose the back yards of commercial areas. The interchange at Third and Irwin Streets would be 60 or 70 feet high and will be "the most prominent structure in town."

Schubart also suggested that pedestrian overpasses be considered for those wanting to cross the highway, especially between Mission Avenue and Puerto Suello Hill. He noted that the project apparently has not considered the relationship of the new highway to rapid transit.

Paul M. Hupf of Daly City, representing the Marist Fathers, said there is a possibility the school may lose a part of its eight acres. He said the school can ill afford to lose any of its property.

Max Thelen of Mountain View Avenue and several others mentioned that Coleman School will be squeezed between the new highway and Grand Avenue. Thelen also urged the hiring of outside help. He said the interchange at the Irwin and Third area will be the "outstanding monument" for San Rafael, and the new viaduct project is more important to the future of the city than any other project.

Several other residents spoke up to point out detailed problems that might come up.

The mayor announced that highway engineers will be invited to a meeting, possibly in August, for detailed discussions of on and off ramps and interchanges. He assured citizens that those now on vacation will have a chance to express themselves in September because there is little likelihood that final agreement on the freeway will be reached before that time.

The mayor said he is not necessarily keen on hiring an "outside expert" because "expert studies" in the past have not always proved worthwhile.

Councilmen announced that all meetings on the highway project will get advance notice so that everyone can be heard.

San Rafael Council Vetoes Nursery Plan

San Rafael city fathers last night turned down proposed rezoning for a nursery at Greenfield Avenue and the Miracle Mile.

The action upholds a previous denial of the rezoning by the city planning commission. R. D. Lang wanted rezoning from single family residential to commercial. A host of neighbors protested.

The council upheld the planning commission in approving rezoning of Palm Avenue from Jewell Street to Magnolia Avenue, raising the minimum lot size from 5,000 to 10,000 square feet. Richard Gladstein of 168 Palm Avenue opposed the rezoning, suggesting a minimum of 7,500 square feet instead.

Medway Road, leading from Francisco Boulevard to residences along Canal Street, won rezoning from manufacturing to restricted commercial. The planning commission proposed the rezoning to keep Medway an attractive entry way to Canal Street homes.

Other actions, the council:

1. Postponed approval of Dominican Heights until 1, a subdivision of 31 homes at Glen Park Avenue and Williams Street. Roy Michael of 216 Mountain View Avenue complained that the new development would pour mud and water on his property. In 1958, Michael spent considerable money to provide drainage to protect his home. The city fathers asked the city engineer to work out a solution with Michael and with developers of Dominican Heights.

2. Authorized a salary of $7,200 for Robert Roger of the fire department, who has been promoted from captain to battalion chief. He succeeds Walker Vaning, who is retiring. Engineer Robert Franzel moves up to captain.

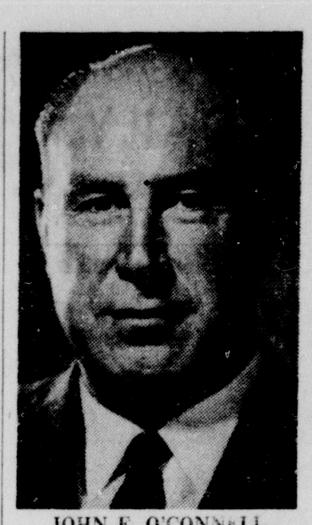

3. Hired Donald Newmark as city planner at $650 per month, and Joan Castrillon as assistant planner at $500 per month, and hired Harold W. Thomson as yard clerk at the corporation yard for $333 per month.

4. Authorized the public works department to deliver to the County of Marin several property descriptions along Third Street in preparation for future widening of that street. The city is asking the county for appraisals on the properties and negotiations for purchase. The mayor anounced that several strips along Third Street have already been acquired by the city during the past two years, and the process of further acquisition is continuing.

JOHN F. O'CONNELL
Named Bechtel director

Kentfield Man Elected To Bechtel Board

John F. O'Connell of 156 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield, has been elected to the board of directors of the Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco.

O'Connel has been with the organization since 1942, when he joined Marinship Corp., the war emergency shipyard at Sausalito built and operated by the Bechtel interests. He is vice president of Bechtel's refinery and chemical division with headquarters in the San Francisco home office.

He served as director of industrial relations for the corporation after the war and was elected vice president in 1952.

O'Connell is a past president and director of the National Constructors Assn. He was chairman of a joint special cost study committee of the association and the American Federation of Labor building trades department, a body which cooperatively developed a so-called "Ten Commandments" of labor-management practices for the national construction industry.

Living in Kentfield with his wife, son and daughter, O'Connell has been active in civic affairs. He served as president of the Marin County Hospital District board from 1955 to 1959.

Preliminary Budget Passes In San Rafael

San Rafael last night approved a preliminary budget of $2,394,000, which includes a 4 per cent wage increase for all employees and higher raises for most of the department heads.

City Manager Dan E. Andersen, who was the only person whose salary was not discussed during last week's budget sessions, got a raise last night from $12,500 to $13,400 per year.

The city tax rate would remain at 96 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, under the preliminary budget.

Councilmen also called for bids on six new sedans, five for the police department and one to replace a 1955 fire department car. The specifications call for standard gear shift instead of the automatic transmission. The city manager said automatic transmission "caused nothing but trouble" during the past year."

The four police cars now being used will be turned over to the city garage for use in other departments.

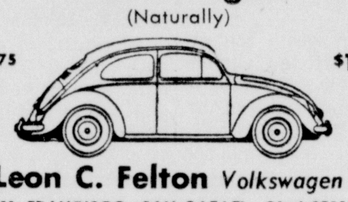

Two Land Owners Hit Assessments

Ross Valley Sanitary District directors last night heard two protests from property owners along Fawn Drive in Sleepy Hollow, objecting to their inclusion in a $20,000 assessment district to install a sanitary sewer.

Eight property owners are involved in the area, which has 18 possible building sites, said Ralph C. Noah, santiary district manager. Only one house has been constructed and it is served by a septic tank.

The protesting property owners, Hilton Swenson of 5 Fox Lane, Sleepy Hollow, and Mrs. Helen M. Ivory of 305 Alexander Avenue, Larkspur, were asked to present more facts on why they should not be included at the directors' next meeting on Aug. 20.

1 Dead, 17 Missing In Blimp Crash; Cause Unknown

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP) — A huge Navy blimp crumpled in the air on a search mission yesterday and crashed "like a sagging banana" into the ocean off the New Jersey coast.

One airman was killed and 17 feared lost in the sunken wreckage.

Three crewmen survived. They were picked up by several boats out fishing on the calm Atlantic under sunny skies.

The Navy said it was mystified as to the cause of the disaster.

One of the survivors said a helium line may have ruptured causing the sausage-like bag to collapse.

The fishing boat Doris May III reached the scene three minutes after the 403-foot blimp fell limply into the water.

"It looked like a sagging banana. Then it crumpled and came down in a hurry," said Frank Mikuletzky, 19, of Barnegat Light, a mate aboard the fishing vessel.

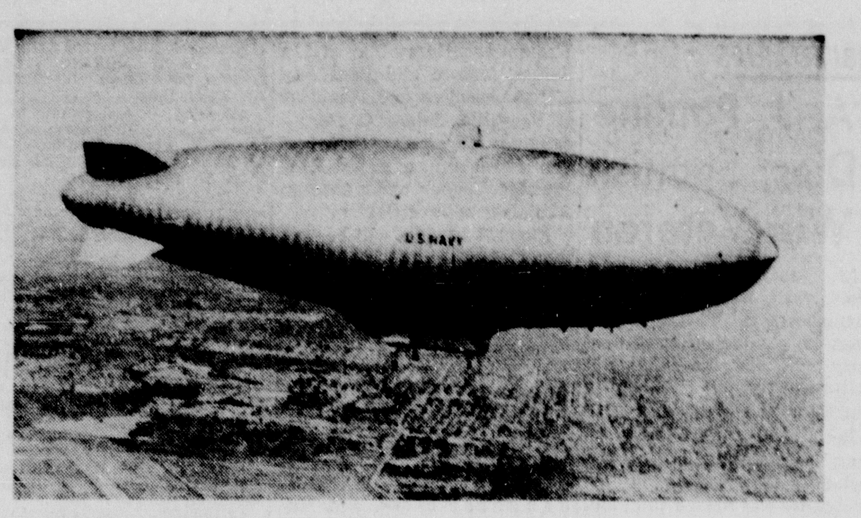

He jumped overboard with a life ring and pulled survivors from the floating wreckage.

The blimp had been out on a search patrol for the 40-foot sloop Vat 69, reported missing with a crew of seven or eight on her way home from the Newport, R. I. to Bermuda sailboat race last month.

Ironically the yacht was found safe by a Navy submarine at almost the same moment the huge blimp radioed the international distress call "May Day, May Day."

Those were the only words heard from the blimp, one of four of the ZPG3W class, the largest airship in the world.

Grappling efforts begin today to retrieve the wreckage, which sank in an undetermined depth.

ON MAIDEN FLIGHT—This is the way the ZPG3W looked on its maiden flight over Akron, Ohio in July, 1958. Yesterday it crashed in the Atlantic. One crewman is dead, 17 are missing and three were rescued. (AP Wirephoto)

Eisenhower, Top Advisers Confer On Crisis Over Sugar Cut Order

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower met today with the National Security Council, and officials said the Cuban crisis was high on the meeting's agenda.

The chief executive conferred with his top advisers as his decree cutting Cuba's sugar quota threatened to bring new seizures of American property by Fidel Castro's government.

Eisenhowerf's sugar decree sent the United States shopping around the world for some 900,000 tons of raw sugar to meet domestic needs in the next six months and brought a sudden boon to other sugar-producing nations.

Acting under authority given him last weekend by Congress, Eisenhower cut by 700,000 tons Cuba's quota to market sugar in this country for the rest of 1960.

Cuba's original quota for the year was 3,119,655 tons. Of this, all but 739,752 has either already been shipped here or has been certified for entry. So the cut left 39,752 still to be imported.

In a statement, the president referred to Castro's barter deals to ship sugar to Soviet Russia at a time when experts said drastic economic reforms in Cuba threaten to cut sugar production.

"The inescapable conclusion is," Eisenhower said, "that Cuba has embarked on a course of action to commit steadily increasing amounts of its sugar crop to trade with the Communist bloc, thus making its future ability to fill the sugar needs of the United States even more uncertain."

Anticipating the quota cut, the Cuban cabinet this week authorized seizure of all remaining American-owned property in Cuba with payment only if the sugar quota were raised —not lowered.

Assessments Score: 12 Reductions Granted

Six appeals from county assessments were disposed of during this morning's second session of the Marin County Board of Supervisors sitting as a board of equalization, raising the total to 14 in two mornings of work. Two cases were continued today.

This morning, five applicants obtained reductions in assessment, as recommended by the assessor's office following review of the cases. One reduction was refused. The total score is 12 reductions granted, two refusals.

Prospects are for a full day tomorrow with hearings both morning and afternoon, due to the fact that continued cases will be heard along with new ones.

Hearings will continue Monday, then be recessed Tuesday to allow regular sessions of the supervisors. They will continue Wednesday and the rest of the week. All applications for equalization must be on file by 5 p.m. of July 15, and the hearings will be ended on July 18.

Shot Proves Fatal To Mechanic

A young Homestead Valley mechanic, apparently despondent over marital trouble, was found dead at his home yesterday with a .22 caliber bullet in his head.

The victim is Harlan Andrew Nimmo, 26, of 909 Greenhill Road, who worked at a Mill Valley auto agency. He had just turned 26 on the Fourth of July.

His estranged wife, Sondra Belle Nimmo, 24, went to attorney Richard Gladstein's office in San Francisco to discuss divorce yesterday. According to Coroner Frank J. Keaton, the attorney called Nimmo at his place of work and at home. Unable to locate him, he called sheriff's deputies.

Sgt. Guy V. Gibbs found Nimmo lying in front of the fireplace, with a bullet through his head. Near the body was his .22 caliber revolver with one spent cartridge in the chamber and three live rounds on the floor.

Sheriff's officers said it was evident Nimmo had taken his own life.

The coroner said the couple had separated once before. On Tuesday night, they had another argument, and Mrs. Nimmo took their 7-year-old son, Nicholas, and went to her mother's home in Belmont. Yesterday she went to San Francisco to seek a divorce.

The coroner estimated that Nimmo had died sometime yesterday morning.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's in San Rafael. Nimmo is survived by three brothers and three sisters in Iowa.

Runaway Boy, 13, Gives Up After Spree Of Thefts

A 13-year-old runaway boy from Larkspur walked into the county fire department at Point Reyes Station last night after living "off the land" on stolen groceries and stolen bicycles since the Fourth of July.

During his adventure for two nights and three days, the boy stole a boat, four bicycles, and groceries from at least four stores, officers said.

The boy said he had stolen a boat at Greenbrae Canal, set fire to some grass near the Hutchinson Rock Co. quarry, stolen food from Drake Market in San Anselmo and the Palace Food Market, Harold's Market and the Price Rite Market in the Point Reyes area, and stolen an electric shaver from a truck. He pedaled his way around on a series of four stolen bicycles before abandoning the last one, hitchhiking to Point Reyes Station and giving himself up. He was taken to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Charges by Interior Minister Giuseppe Spataro that the Communist party had planned and provoked the disorders brought a rising, angry clamor.

Street fighting flared in Rome when police tried to break up an estimated 10,000 World War II partisans and their supporters who massed in defiance of a police ban.

Foreign tourists caught in the melee ran for cover. Order finally was restored after three hours. At least 350 rioters were arrested, police said.

When news of the rioting reached Parliament, Communist and Socialist deputies squared off against Christian Democrat supporters of Premier Fernando Tambroni's government. Scuffling went on until after midnight.

The wave of rioting began last week when Communist-led demonstrators blocked Fascist attempts to convene in Genoa.

Other riots broke out in Milan, Turin and Reggio Emilia.

answers from the police department by telephone that "we can do nothing about it" and "I don't blame them for swimming there."

Dagley said he asked in April for assistance to get out of his driveway, which was blocked. He said he told police that people were swimming in the reservoir. The police told him there was no water in the reservoir yet, but Dagley said, it had been completely filled for a month.

Blackwell asked for a report within two weeks on steps taken to correct the situation.

Almcrants said that the police department had informed him that nine boys have gone through the creek all the way down and picked up debris. "They filled the trash cans," he said.

He asked that a letter might be sent complimenting the boys for their initiative. Blackwell said he would authorize the letter.

Novato Club Balloting On Building Gift

Ballots from Novato Community Club members, to be counted tomorrow, will decide whether the group's clubhouse will be offered as a gift to the City of Novato.

Club president George Wahl said today, "If membership wants it, the board will start action to negotiate with the city."

The clubhouse debate began when some members urged turning the building at 906 Machin Avenue over to the city when it was incorporated in January, saying that was the intent of the club's founders. Others said the club bylaws had been changed so that the club house could be turned over only on dissolution of the club.

The argument carried to the city council, where a representative of the garden section urged that the matter be put to a membership vote.

Wahl stressed today that the poll was "unofficial." He said some 200 ballots had been mailed to club members, with today as deadline for their return. He said representatives of different points of view would gather tomorrow night to count ballots.

The ballot asks members to mark whether they favor giving the clubhouse "property rights" to the city or retaining them.

Two Women Injured In Car Crashes

Two women suffered injuries in separate accidents yesterday on Marin's Highway 101.

Mrs. Rose C. Peterson, 58, of Sebastopol received emergency treatment at Marin General Hospital for injuries to her back and neck after her car was struck in the rear by a station wagon driven by Robert Albert Sporer, 31, of 190 Park Street, San Rafael. Sporer was cited by California Highway Patrol Officer Jack Edwards for driving without due caution.

The accident happened at 10:05 a.m. one-fourth mile north of the Greenbrae interchange.

Mrs. Tobie Estelle Vickers, 52, of 1014 Sixth Street, Novato, injured her left wrist at 8:15 a.m. when her car struck one driven by Katherine Norma Pettis, 53, of Vallejo, in a southbound lane of Highway 101 near the summit of Puerto Suello hill, according to Officer Edwards.

Mrs. Vickers said she would see her own doctor. She was cited for following another vehicle too closely.

Janet: You mean there are 59 services available to everybody with a Savings Account at Bank of America?

Us: Sure. Everything from cashing a check to financing a swimming pool. And don't forget there's also the extra safety and availability of your funds to be considered.

Janet: That's wonderful! Where else could you get all these extra services except at a bank. I bet you'd even help me if I wanted to replace my furniture, wouldn't you?

Us: I'm sure we could make some sort of arrangement.

Janet: Well that's just fine, because I'd like the piano over there, and then the big table will go under the window and.....

END OF IT—Britain's Dr. Barbara Moore rides the shoulders of two unidentified men in New York as she completes her 85-day transcontinental walk from San Francisco. (AP Wirephoto)

PLANS PARK STROLL

Walking Doctor Sips Bubbly At Trail's End

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hard-walking Dr. Barbara Moore relaxed today from her 3,387 mile transcontinental hike with a six-mile stroll around Central Park.

The 56-year-old British vegetarian was to make the jaunt to compensate for a six-mile "crib" when she accepted a ride near the end of her 85-day San Francisco-New York trek yesterday.

Dr. Moore arrived at Times Square last night at 6:18 p.m. to a rousing welcome by more than 2,000 vegetarians and other sympathizers plus city officials.

She said the best part of her trip was "when I entered New York." The Russian-born physician then retired to the Astor Hotel where she is occupying the bridal suite.

At a banquet later she sipped champagne and dined on diced carrots, white turnips and broccoli, a feat compared to her road diet of grass juice, powdered cashews, sunflower and sesame seeds and soya "meatburgers."

Dr. Moore said she would return to England within a few days and consider offers of walking in Canada and Australia.

The 5-foot-three-inch doctor said she encountered many hazards during her coast-to-coast walk. These included deserts, dust storms, deep snow, tornadoes, truck traffic and sightseers.

Apartment Plan Wins Approval

Plans for a three-story, 12-unit apartment building to be constructed on a 16,000-square-foot lot in Greenbrae were approved last night by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

The building, on Greenbrae Unit 4, would be built by Schultz Construction Co. Fifteen one-site parking spaces would be provided.

Attending his first planning commission meeting was James Chesnut who was appointed to the commission to replace David McDougall, whose term had expired.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Patrol Tests Due

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state is holding a statewide examination for highway patrolmen Sept. 24 and promises it "will not discriminate in any way against qualified men."

Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden, announcing the tests yesterday, noted they will be the first given since enactment of the state's new Fair Employment Practices Act.

Mercury Plunges

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brisk Canadian air clamped an unseasonal chill on a broad area of the nation today.

Fair and cool weather spread from the Northern Plains through the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region into the Northeast. Temperatures plummeted into the 40s for the third straight morning in northern border areas and readings in general resembled autumn rather than July.

Margin For Demo

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Official canvass returns from all 53 counties give Rep. Quentin N. Burdick (D-N.D.) a margin of 1,109 votes over Republican Gov. John E. Davis in the June 28 special U.S. Senate election.

The official county totals gave Burdick 104,584 and Davis 103,475. Burdick will serve out the 4½ years left on the term of the late Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.).

Rocky Move Starts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A nationwide movement to draft New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination got under way today with half-page ads in metropolitan newspapers.

The movement was announced yesterday by William M. Brinton, San Francisco attorney and national chairman. Draft Rockefeller headquarters are in San Francisco, with committees operating in 21 states, Brinton said.

Death Sentences

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The Seoul district court today imposed death sentences on two of the policemen who fired at student demonstrators during the April revolution that toppled Syngman Rhee's government.

The sentences were the first handed down in a series of trials of former high officials, politicians and policemen charged with committing a long list of crimes under the Rhee regime.

Earhart Dispute

TOYKO (AP) — The U.S. 5th Air Force today described as "incomplete and inconclusive" information which two Air Force officers contend proves the Japanese executed Amelia Earhart and her navigator on Saipan in 1937.

A spokesman said the data assembled by Capts. Joseph Gervais, 36, of Tyngsboro, Mass., and Robert Dinger, 38, of Vero Beach, Fla., is being withheld from publication for the moment because it is awaiting evaluation.

Thor Launchings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The entire series of 12 Thor-Delta satellite launching vehicles will be fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Five of the shots had been scheduled for the West Coast.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today the decision to cancel the scheduled shots from the Pacific Missile Range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, was aimed at saving time and money.

Satellites can be launched southward from the Vandenberg base into polar orbits. From the Atlantic range satellites are sent eastward into semi-equatorial orbits.

Latin Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Latin American envoys here conferred with their governments today on Venezuela's angry request for a foreign ministers meeting to punish the Dominican Republic for alleged involvement in an attempt to blow up the Venezuelan president.

Venezuela told the Council of the Organization of American States yesterday that Dominican Dictator Rafael Trujillo himself was in on the unsuccessful plot to assassinate Venezuelan President Romula Betancourt June 24.

A spokesman for the Dominican Republic emphatically denied the charge.

The 21-member inter-American organization adjourned until tomorrow to allow diplomats to consult their governments on how to vote on Venezuela's request for a foreign ministers meeting.

One pilot survived; the other is missing and believed drowned.

Execution Set Tomorrow For Strangler Of 2

Richard T. Cooper, confessed strangler of two women, is scheduled to die tomorrow in San Quentin Prison's death chamber for a murder of which another man pleaded guilty and served time.

The other, John Henry Fry of Tennessee, was glad to get out of San Quentin Prison after Cooper confessed the killing.

Cooper evidently will be glad to die. For once he formally petitioned for quicker execution, which a judge denied.

Cooper was afraid, he said, that a referendum to repeal the death penalty in California might be placed on the ballot and win. But no such measure qualified.

Fry, a 52-year-old construction worker, was in San Quentin serving a six month-to-10 year sentence for manslaughter on June 4, 1959, when Cooper walked into a San Francisco police station with the story which finally released Fry.

The first state to abolish capital punishment was Michigan in 1847.

WHAT THEY KNOW IS FOR THE BIRDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Migratory Bird Commission has confessed to congressional investigators that in all its ornithological lore there is not a single military secret.

The news was no great surprise to the House Government Information Subcommittee. But Chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif.) hoped to use it to prod the administration into making promised changes in a 1953 National Security Directive.

Moss told the President in a letter that the bird commission was one of 30 agencies which never had used their authority to stamp documents as classified.

He said it therefore appeared they "should be immediately removed from the list of those granted blanket authority to restrict public information."

Five Cent Commission

NATIONAL CITY (AP)—Real estate man Larry Hoffman sold a house for $1, with a provision that the buyer agree to move it. Hoffman's commission was five cents.

Soviets Name Spy Master As Cuba Envoy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sergei Kudryavtsev, who masterminded a widespread Soviet spy ring in Canada during World War II, was named today as Russian ambassador to Cuba.

Tass news agency reported in Moscow that Kudryavtsev, now minister counsellor of the Russian Embassy in Paris, had been appointed to the Havana post by the Supreme Soviet Presidium.

The appointment was sure to put a new strain on deteriorating U.S.-Cuban relations.

As first secretary of the Soviet legation (later embassy) in Canada between 1942 and 1945, Kudryavtsev was one of the early bosses of the Russian espionage ring in that country.

The operation was exposed when Igor Gouzenko, a code clerk in the Russian Embassy in Ottawa, defected to the west.

San Rafael City Hall Janitor Hits Dismissal

San Rafael City Hall janitor Louis Figone, fired last week because the city decided a janitorial service could do the job more economically, bitterly denounced City Manager Dan E. Andersen last night.

Figone, 56, who has been city hall janitor for three years, said he was called in by the city manager last Wednesday (on the third day of his summer vacation) and suddenly handed dismissal papers.

"The way it was handed to me certainly wasn't diplomatic and ethical," Figone bristled. "It ruined my vacation . . . I think there might be something personal about it!"

Mayor John F. McInnis announced he would have the city manager set a personnel hearing to discuss the matter. The mayor said it may be held before one of the regular council meetings, possibly on July 18. Because the case involves discharging an employee, the hearing will be closed, unless Figone asks for an open hearing.

The city manager said the city can save about $2,000 by having a janitorial service take care of the city hall. Figone challenged the statement. He said he took care of many chores, such as watering and caring for the lawn outside. But the lawn has been taken over by recreation and park department workmen.

"The janitorial service does half the work I did, and you tell me the city is saving money," he said. "Is that fair?"

Andersen, ired by Figone's attack, fired back: "Maybe we should explain why we did it. The lawn in front was getting so shabby, we had to do something."

But before the debate got any hotter, the mayor pounded for order and announced further discussion will take place at the special hearing.

San Rafael Firehouse Bids Opened

San Rafael's new fire station across the highway from Terra Linda will cost $48,723 to build, the city council learned last night after opening 10 bids for the job.

Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross turned in the low bid, followed closely by Joseph R. Filippo of San Rafael, who offered to do the job for $48,788. Other bids ranged to a high of $63,331.

The bids will be studied by the San Rafael Fire Commission before a contract is awarded.

The Third and High Streets storm water pump project, estimated to cost about $75,000, brought five bids, all in excess of $100,000. The lowest bid was $104,160 by S and Q Construction Co. of South San Francisco, followed by Duncanson-Harrelson Co. of Richmond at $107,305. Vincent Maggiora and Son of Sausalito bid $108,629. The high was $113,803. The public works department took all five bids under submission for recommendation in two weeks.

For street striping and painting, the Empire Co. of Oakland offered to do the job for a year at a maximum cost of $11,900. Mark-A-Line of Sausalito bid a maximum of $12,775.

L. M. Curtis and Sons offered to equip a fire truck for grass fire fighting for $6,667. P. E. Van Pelt Inc. bid $6,977.

Camgros and Hutchinson Co. quoted almost identical prices for road materials which the city buys each year for street maintenance.

All bids were submitted for further study and recommendations at the next meeting.

School Meeting Off

No meeting of the Point Reyes School District board of trustees was held last night in the absence of J. H. Mendoza, clerk of the board. A meeting will be scheduled after his return from a vacation on Sunday night, said Mrs. George P. Nunes, board member.

Sanitary District To Mull Budget

The Tamalpais Valley Sanitary district will meet at the Tamalpais Valley Firehouse at 8 p. m. Tuesday to consider adoption of the final 1960-61 budget.

At preliminary hearings, the budget figure was estimated to be about $29,000, said Bruce J. Gillette, chairman.

Gilette said nominating petitions for two board vacancies are available at the firehouse.

Fund Drive Head For Junior Museum

A. L. McCormick of Kentfield will head the Junior Museum of Marin expansion fund campaign, the junior museum board announced today.

The campaign is to raise funds for permanent additions and improvements in the museum's facilities. Topping the priority list are a classroom and laboratory building, a mobile trailer for taking museum exhibits to schools, and 16-mm. motion pictures of Marin animal life.

McCormick is president of Mac-Cor, Inc., a contracting and real estate development firm now promoting and constructing commercial developments in Lake Tahoe, Los Angeles and Tucson. He and his wife, the former Virginia Dollar of San Rafael, and their four children live at 16 Spring Road, Kentfield.

McCormick is well known as a yachtsman. His craft, the Sea Witch, won the Los Angeles-to-Honolulu race in 1951.

He has been a member of the Junior Museum board of directors for a year.

"The museum's activities have, in the first five years of operation, become indispensable to the public schools of Marin and are performing a crucial service in stimulating interest, understanding and appreciation of Marin's valuable natural assets," declared McCormick.

In spite of its important role, financial support of the museum has been assumed by only 600 families, McCormick said. The county-wide campaign which he will head is intended to elicit much wider support for the enterprise.

Campaign headquarters is at the Pacific Title and Trust Co., 1325 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Contract Awarded For Incinerator Work

Herrero Brothers, Inc. of San Francisco has been awarded a $4,424 government contract for debris incinerator alterations and additions at the Army Engineer District base yard in Sausalito, Col. John S. Harnett, Can Francisco District army engineer, announced today.

The higset of three bids received was $5,895.

Belvedere's Tax Rate May Decrease 20 Cents

Belvedere's tax rate is expected to take about a 20-cent drop, despite an increase of $3,000 in the city's budget for 1960-61.

The Belvedere City Council this week adopted a $137,480 budget for the new fiscal year, with $108,000 of the amount to be raised by taxes. Last year's budget was $134,445.

The tax rate should be about $1.80, council members estimated, because of the increase in assessed valuations of Belvedere property. The city taxes on an assessment ratio of 23 per cent of the appraised value of property — the same ratio used by the county.

Increased pay for two of the "side jobs" held by City Manager Britton Rey was approved on recommendation of the council's finance committee. His pay as city clerk will go up from $50 to $75 per month, and as building inspector, from $70 to $75. Rey receives $650 per month as city manager, which was not increased for the new year.

The council accepted with regret the resignation of Vice Adm. Frank E. Beatty as deputy director of civil defense. It also authorized purchase of a $3,000 walkie-talkie for the volunteer fire department.

John Cabot, British explorer, was really an Italian.

JOHN S. HARNETT
To succeed Marsh

Army District Engineer Taking Bay Council Job

Col. John S. Harnett, San Francisco district engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers, will become executive secretary of the San Francisco Bay Area Council on his army retirement Oct. 1.

Harnett's appointment was announced today by Edgar F. Kaiser, council president, who said it had been approved by the council's 24-member board of trustees.

Harnett has served as district engineer for the last three of his 20 years of active army service.

Harnett will assume the duties and responsibilities of Frank E. Marsh of San Rafael, who is resigning effective Aug. 31 to enter private business after serving as vice president and general manager of the nine-county civic and research organization for 14 years.

"Colonel Harnett brings a wealth of diversified and valuable experience to the council," Kaiser said. "In particular, his work in supervising the Army Engineers' San Francisco Bay Model Study will be of great advantage to the council."

"I am enthusiastic about this opportunity to work with the Bay Area Council," Harnett said. "In our three years in this area, my family and I decided this is the place we want to make our future home.

"As chief of this district, I was constantly reminded of the great need for more coordination in the area. In my new position with the council, I hope I will be able to stimulate more of the coordinated effort which I strongly advocated as district engineer."

Harnett is a native of Snohomish, Wash., a graduate of West Point and has a master's degree in government from Harvard University. In 1951-54, he was a special assistant to Generals Eisenhower and Gruenther at SHAPE in Paris.

Planners Approve Road Construction

San Rafael Planning Commissioners approved construction of a 320-foot stretch of Nova Albion Way, which will give the new Terra Linda High School access to the street.

Eichler Homes, Inc., has already improved one-half of the street, and the high school will pave the other half.

Commissioners acted at a special meeting yesterday. There is a dispute on who is going to pay for another 700 feet of road in front of the new school.

Contractor Pleads Innocent In Car Death

Albert Warren Ellis, 40, San Rafael painting contractor, pleaded innocent yesterday to felony hit-run driving in the death of Mrs. Helen Bell of Tamalpais Valley two weeks ago.

The attractive British war bride, mother of three, was found dead beside Shoreline Highway, her body virtually split apart from some terrific impact or pressure. Ellis says he gave Mrs. Bell a ride home from the Fireside Bar and Restaurant on the night of June 23, and she jumped from his panel truck.

Ellis appeared yesterday with attorney Albert E. Bagshaw before Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court. The judge set 11 a.m. on July 26 as time for preliminary hearing.

Sheriff's deputies, California Highway Patrol Officers Cecil Hooper and Charles Heart, and Coroner Frank J. Keaton conducted a joint investigation of the death. Laboratory tests on the panel truck at Sacramento indicated that the woman's body had come in contact with the right rear portion of the vehicle.

Boy Hooked

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—While harpoon fishing from a dock in Tampa Bay, Avelio Diaz thought he had taken a large fish. But his quarry came to the surface with a yell.

Diaz had mistaken Angel Fernandez, 12, for a fish and harpooned him twice. The youth was treated at a hospital for wounds in the left arm and leg and released.

One Carnival Man Guilty; Three Cleared

Gilbert Gene Lockard, 24, a carnival worker from Kentucky, will be sentenced July 18 for contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old Mill Valley girl two weeks ago.

But three other youths, who drove with Lockard and the girl from the Corte Madera Shopping Center to San Francisco, were freed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Frank J. Strange, 19, Richmond; William Leroy Myers, 20, Castro Valley, and Larry Vernon Morton, 18, San Jose, were acquitted of the contributing charge after a court trial before Judge N. Charles Brusatori. They were represented by attorney Fred C. Robbins Jr.

The three youths, all working with Lockard at the carnival in Corte Madera, testified they did not know the girl was only 15 and that she was a runaway. At Lockard's suggestion, they said, they went for the ride to San Francisco. There, they learned the girl's age and immediately drove back to Corte Madera, where police found the girl in Strange's car.

The three said Lockard had some beer but they did not drink any, and neither did the girl.

Judge Brusatori noted the three made no advances toward the girl, but that Lockard did. He set Lockard's bail at $1,000 and continued the case until 10 a.m. July 18 for a report from the probation office and for sentencing.

Yawl Found

COOS BAY, Ore. (UPI) — The 34-foot yawl Opportunity, reported in distress last Sunday off the coast of Oregon, was being towed in here today by a Coast Guard cutter.

The vessel, skippered by Charles McCuddin, 25, of Opportunity, Wash., was the object of a three-day search by Coast Guard vessels from Washington and California ports.

Larkspur Council Helps Street Plan

The Larkspur City Council gave helping pushes last night to three resident - financed street improvement projects.

Improvement of Marina Vista Avenue from the end of the present accepted street to the Corte Madera line, to an 18-foot width with concrete curb and gutter on one side, will cost $26,755, estimated City Engineer John C. Oglesby.

On that basis, the project was turned over to William Desmond of 26 Hawthorne Lane, Corte Madera, a Marina Vista property owner and one of a group seeking the improvement, for circulation of petitions for an assessment district.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper reported sufficient signatures were still lacking for an assessment district to improve portions of Hazel, Orange, Holly and Tamalpais Avenues. But the goal is in sight, he said. If millionaire A. A. Tiscornia's signature is abtained, about 56 per cent of the area involved will be signed up. And, said Piper, Tiscornia has promised to sign.

The three councilmen present urged Piper to get the Tiscornia signature before the July 20 council meeting. Piper said Eugene Sturgis, assessment district attorney, had advised 60 per cent of the area should be represented on the petition. But City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner said he thought that amount was not absolutely necessary, and Piper was advised to contact Sturgis if Tiscornia signs.

The council approved a third street improvement — to be financed by the property owners without formal assessment proceedings, — on upper Olive Avenue.

Piper presented a plan for installing 450 feet of street, 28 feet wide for the first 250 feet and narrowing gradually to 19 feet thereafter, and with a 24-foot bridge. He said cost was estimated at $3,330.

S. W. (Bud) Easom of 42 Olive Avenue, organizer of the street improvement effort, said he had assurance from a number of the property owners that they would bear the cost. He asked for elimination of concrete curb and gutter above the bridge, but Councilman James Lienkaemper pointed out the council had just insisted on curb and gutter for Marina Vista. The plan was approved with the curb and gutter included.

Councilman Daniel Allen and A. E. Storhaug were absent from the three-hour, 15-minute meeting, at which the council also:

1. Postponed acceptance of Tamalpais High School District's proposal for cost sharing in extending Doherty Drive until July 20, when the full council is expected to be present, but authorized City Engineer John C. Oglesby (who was also absent) to proceed with plans and specifications for the job.

2. Delayed appointment of a member of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission, to succeed Mrs. Pauline H. Secor, to await a recommendation from Larkspur's own recreation commission.

3. On City Manager Piper's recommendation, decided to wait and see whether "the big cities sign up" before taking action on joining the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

4. Acceded readily to a request by James Stockman, proprietor of the Edgewater Inn, that nothing be done about his application for a billboard on a piece of property within Larkspur until he gets an answer from the Town of Corte Madera on a new request for a roadside sign there.

5. Approved payment of warrants totaling $6,983.41.

Convict Strikes, Hurts Another

A San Francisco car thief, serving time in San Quentin Prison, struck another inmate over the head with a fire hose nozzle shortly before noon yesterday.

Prison officials said the victim, Robert Wilson, 22, Alameda County burglar, was hospitalized with severe head lacerations but was not in critical condition.

The assailant was identified as Edmund Morris, 25. He hit Wilson after an argument over a table tennis game in the prison gymnasium, said Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

Morris was convicted in San Francisco of car theft and possession of a black jack.

Larkspur To Hold Off On Nursery Site Zoning

Zoning of the Garden Spot Nursery property on Larkspur's Magnolia Avenue will remain untouched until a new ordinance is drawn up to provide several types of commercial zoning.

That was the decision of the Larkspur City Council last night, after hearing eloquent pleas by attorneys for (1) rezoning the nursery property from commercial back to single family residential and (2) adding a couple of small pieces of the property, still zoned residential, to the commercial zoning.

Peter N. Behr, Mill Valley attorney and city councilman, argued the case for rezoning to residential, in behalf of College Park property owners.

Behr argued that the Garden Spot is the only property zoned for business on the southeast side of Magnolia Avenue.

As such, he contended, it depresses the values of surrounding residential property. It should be rezoned residential, he claimed, to "give the city control" until it can be placed in some restrictive zone (he suggested administrative-professional).

Attorney Wallase S. Myers of Fairfax, speaking for S. F. Kellam, the nursery owner, contended that by rezoning the property residential the council would be "taking away half the property value." He said there are 26 businesses in the same area of Magnolia Avenue —and no residences facing on that street. He said the property owner would not object to a commercial zone with some restrictions to eliminate possibly objectionable uses. He asked the additional pieces be zoned commercial to conform to present property lines.

Jerome Lerner of the Hillview Gardens Home Owners Assn. said his group agrees with the College Park stand as expressed by Behr.

"We're going to try to work out a solution that suits both sides," promised Mayor H. H. (Steve) Wheeler. "It may take a little doing."

The solution, he said, will be based on creation of three different types of business zones, with the Garden Spot likely put in the most restrictive of the three. Nobody objected to its continued use as a nursery, he pointed out.

On suggestion of City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner, and motion of Councilman Lesly S. Daveler, the council continued the hearing until Sept. 7.

Anti-Polio Shots Due At Hamilton

Free anti-polio shots will be available to Hamilton Air Force Base personnel and their dependents July 13 and 20 from 1 to 4 p.m.

The clinic will be set up near the airmen's day room, Building 512 on the base, to give one of the anti-polio series or booster shots. It is sponsored by the Meadow Park School Parent-Teacher Assn. health committee, which polled parents of 450 youngsters at the school and found 237 of the children lacking vaccine shots. The vaccine will be paid for by the Air Force.

RUNAROUND IN LARKSPUR

Councilman Doesn't Dig City's Speeding Teeners

Larkspur City Councilman James Lienkaemper, it seems, doesn't dig those teen-agers.

He has company, particularly among residents of William Avenue, which runs to the Redwood High School campus and which, according to a complaint Lienkaemper received, is used as a speedway by high school drivers.

Lienkaemper relayed the complaint to the Larkspur City Council last night. He proposed additional policing of William Avenue, particularly on nights when there are events at the high school.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper cited lack of manpower in the police department.

Also, said Piper, the youths are "always just one jump ahead of the police." If they see an officer on William Avenue, he said, they know there's none on Magnolia. So they drive cautiously on William — then use Magnolia for a speedway.

Moreover, many of them have car radios tuned to police frequency so that if a call is sent out for a police car, they know just where not to be caught.

"They're that thoroughly dedicated to crime?" demanded Lienkaemper.

"They're that dedicated to not getting caught," replied Piper.

"To me," said Lienkaemper, "that's crime."

Shaking his head and smiling, Mayor H. H. (Steve) Wheeler observed sagely: "You have to raise a teen-ager before you can dig 'em."

Bay leaf, which grows in Mediterranean countries, has multiple uses. The dried leaves are a flavor for soups, fish and meat dishes. An extract is also used as a hair tonic.

U.S. RIPS KHRUSHCHEV 'SLANDEROUS ATTACKS'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States denounced today what it called Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "slanderous attacks" on this country during his present visit to Austria.

The State Department protested the Austrian government's "failure to disassociate itself from these attacks."

Ambassador H. Freeman Matthews delivered the protest Wednesday on instructions from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

New Hope Forecast In Oldster Problem

New hope for the aged was pictured as an objective for Marin County in a "Marin Sounding Board" program over radio station KTIM today in which a four-man panel discussion dealt largely with accomplishments in San Mateo County.

E. H. Nordby, general manager of that county's Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center, told how "a community decision was made to convert from custodial care to an active rehabilitation program."

Result of six years of this program, he said, has been great progress in restoring older folk to the main channels of life and usually to their homes, while at the same time saving "well over $500,000 per year for county taxpayers."

Nordby said "a successful fire" had destroyed San Mateo's county hospital in 1925 so that present buildings are structurally safe.

"Soul-searching" went along with physical restoration, he said, with the result of a developing philosophy which "raised the concepts of human value."

This created the objective of keeping the elderly in their own homes where possible and bringing about their participation as effective members of the community.

A start, Nordby said, was made with volunteers. Patients themselves took active part, realizing that their lives could be made worthwhile and finding that already they were accepted as people with judgment and capacity. He described the development of the present professional rehabilitation full-time team.

With Kitty Oppenheimer as moderator, three Marin County officials described the local situation and answered questions on a program tape recorded and to be rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Rafel P. Dufficy, county medical director, pictured the problem of the aged as growing and nationwide, due both to greater general longgevity and the trend toward city living where the elderly don't fit in as they could in a rural setting.

Lloyd de la Montanya, superintendent of the Marin County Hospital and Farm, said that formerly this was "just a home but times have changed." Many of the aged are now able at least to eke out an independent livelihood through Social Security and other aid, he said. He described Marin efforts to provide a maximum number of beds in an outmoded accomodation.

County administrator D. A. Jensen said, "We're talking more about human beings than buildings today." The objective is not "acres of beds" but to work for maximum happiness and self-sufficiency, he said.

Jensen paid tribute to Dufficy as an administrator bucking the prevalent trend toward more public services and seeking rather to decrease government's obligations. He described progress at the county hospital on such points as improved food, increasing nursing staff, better medical care. Occupational therapy is the next step, he said.

"We want to provide a stop-over for rehabilitation, not before the grave," he said, saying San Mateo has demonstrated the possibility of successful achievement.

Almost all questions centered about costs. The Marin representatives stressed that plans are for "no frills" (as Jensen put it) and "only the bare essentials" (in Dufficy's words). Nordby said relatively high costs are everywhere "a problem we must accept."

A proposal for the county to buy San Rafael General Hospital doesn't meet needs of the aged.

It was stressed that present quarters have been condemned. Asked about endorsement of these buildings by the Marin County Taxpayers Assn., Jensen said this was an uninformed lay opinion against that of engineers.

To a question of "how can you justify cost of $13,000 a bed?" Dufficy retorted, "We're not just building beds, but a rehabilitation hospital to get people back into useful life. In the overall picture it will greatly pay for itself."

Mumps, Measles Cases Listed

Eighteen cases each of mumps and measles were reported in Marin County during the week ending last Friday.

Mill Valley had seven cases of mumps, San Rafael, three. San Rafael had 10 measles victims, Kentfield six.

Tuberculosis was the only other ailment with more than a single case, showing a total of five spread throughout the county.

Slope Ordinance Passed By Mill Valley Council

The Mill Valley City Council last night adopted by 3-1 vote a slope ordinance which is designed to regulate the size of lots in respect to the topography of the land.

The ordinance, an amendment to the subdivision ordinance, applies to subdivisions of five lots or more. It will become effective in 30 days.

The council, by the same 3-1 vote, denied Manuel Gomez's request for rezoning of 32 acres on Garden Hill from one acre to one-fourth acre parcels, with the slope ordinance to be applied to them.

Voting "no" were Acting Mayor George W. Blackwell, Councilmen Joseph E. Sheeks and Michael Wornum. Councilman George D. Monardo voted "yes." Mayor Robert D. Huber was absent.

Monardo stated his reasons for backing the rezoning in a lengthy letter to City. Atty. Thomas C. Nelson. He said in the slope ordinance, the government goes beyond its realm.

Wornum said he had run for election on the platform of believing in large lots on hillsides. He said some of Gomez's lots in the proposed rezoning were a little over 10,000 square feet and he would like to see lots of at least 15,000 square feet.

Gomez, angry at the turndown, shouted: "For nine months I have sat here. I want justice. I have complied. Now you stand up on your platform (to Wornum). Boy, oh boy, what a platform you have! Mr. Wornum, you've got four years. You'd better hold onto that platform for four years."

Wornum said, "I intend to do so."

Gomez, said he had spent $350 for special maps which the council had asked to see how the lots would appear under the slope ordinance.

The council also:

1. Discussed Greyhound bus storage on Miller Avenue after reading of a letter from Herbert Shapiro to Western Greyhound Lines inviting the company to lease Shapiro property across from Tamalpais High School athletic field at $50 per month. No action was taken but councilman Wornum went on record favoring removing of the buses from Miller.
2. Continued for two weeks a hearing on a variance to permit V. H. Hinkle to build on his three lots with less than the requested setbacks. Three neighbors of Hinkle, who lives at 424 West Blithedale Avenue, opposed the plan on basis of congesting traffic and possibly having to destroy redwoods on the property.
3. Zoned a portion of Goheen Construction Co.'s Scott Valley Unit 1, formerly unclassified. A portion was zoned for 20,000 square feet lots and another portion for 10,000 square foot lots. The land was recently annexed to the city. The council also approved assessment district proceedings for Scott Valley Unit 1.
4. Authorized an amendment to the Mill Valley Garbage Co. agreement which extends the franchise between company's exclusive franchise until 1970.
5. Approved location and structure of a bridge across Arroyo De Corte Madera del Presidio between properties of James E. Egger and Shapiro, behind the Jolly Stores parking lot.
6. Adopted the County of Marin civil defense operations plan.
7. Authorized beer to be sold at adult games at Project 17 on a one-day license arrangement.
8. Approved warrants totaling $26,238.
9. Put on the record councilman Monardo's request that city treasurer William Rutherford should be asked to consider depositing city funds in one bank instead of three as at present; also that more of the city's funds should be deposited in treasury notes.

Mill Valley To Continue Master Plan Service

The Mill Valley City Council voted 3-1 last night to continue the services of the Marin County Planning Department on a master plan for marshland development, but added the city's own engineers as coordinators.

The vote came after an hour of discussion during which three council members were outspoken in complaints about the county's services. They said the county planning department has shown few results since it began work on the plan Jan. 1.

Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks called it "the most ridiculous thing I have ever seen in my life. . . . its been six months since we got one progress report and that report was prepared today with the help of our city engineer." He said there is no assurance that the plan will be done by Dec. 31. Sheeks voted "no" on continuing the arrangement.

Councilman Michael Wornum said "they have a very junior, junior planner doing our work . . . it was a vacation job done by a student at the University of California."

However, City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said that to chop off the work with the county now would be a great mistake.

It was brought out that, in the report received yesterday from County Planning Director Mary Summers, 90 per cent of the preliminary design of Project 17 was done, 50 per cent of East Mill Valley land use was done, 10 per cent of a base map, 60 per cent of traffic study and railroad requirements, and 20 per cent of the rapid transit influence.

Acting Mayor George W. Blackwell asked City Manager A. E. Almcrants to work matters out with Mrs. Summers to finish the plan by December and have bi-monthly reports submitted to Mill Valley.

The council directed that City Engineer Bala and his partner, Jesper C. Strangaard, be coordinators of the work.

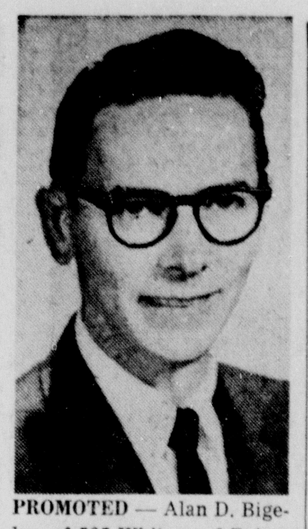

CHP Chief Gives Flag For Firehouse

A five-foot by 10-foot United States flag has been donated to the Tiburon Fire Protection District to fly atop the Tiburon Boulevard main fire station.

The flag was donated by Capt. Theodore F. Parnow, Marin County head of the California Highway Patrol, after an Independent-Journal article about a campaign to raise funds for purchase of flag and pole.

Mrs. Wellman Topham of Tiburon, who initiated the campaign among property owners associations for "funds for the flag," said five flag poles are now under consideration by the district. She said five people had notified her they have available poles.

A $5 donation has been received from Mrs. Edith Whitaker, 29 Medway, San Anselmo, whose family had lived in Tiburon for many years, Mrs. Topham said.

PROMOTED — Alan D. Bigelow of 505 Whitewood Drive, Marinwood, has been promoted to assistant trust officer and assistant secretary at the San Francisco head office of Wells Fargo Bank-American Trust Co. He joined the bank in 1947 and since 1954 has been assistant manager of a San Francisco branch.

CAR CLUBS REQUEST

Recreation Commission May Seek 'Drag Strip'

The Marin County Recreation Commission yesterday agreed to consider location of a "drag strip" in the county.

An area near the Novato airport was suggested.

The request for the strip came from Leland E. Baum, representing eight Marin car clubs. Baum told the commission that drag racers, ideally, would like a strip a mile and one-half long.

Car club members would do the work if the county could come up with a location for the strip, Baum said.

Turning to other business, commission members noted that they are negotiating for relocation of road easement to the county's newly acquired Muir Beach overlook site, formerly under military control. The present road necessitates opening and closing of gates and installation of cattle grates.

Commissioners recommended to the county board of supervisors that employment of an attendant at Miller Park be stopped, since no fees are charged for park visitors.

Construction Dips In Mill Valley

Building was down by almost half in Mill Valley last month as compared with June, 1959.

Seventeen building permits were issued, totaling $126,195, according to building inspector Preston L. Canfield. Four of these were for residences at $63,895 and the rest for repairs and alterations totaling $62,300.

Thirty permits were issued in June of 1959 totaling $213,850.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

Marin County Savings-Loan Gains 25% In Assets During Half Year

A gain of nearly 25 per cent in assets for the first six months of 1960 by the Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and an almost equal increase in savings deposits for the same period will provide added cause for this firm's celebration of its 74th birthday on July 19. Number of new accounts during the first half of 1960 showed an increase of 33 per cent.

According to executive vice president Fred F. Enemark, more than three million dollars in real estate loans were made during the semi-annual period, all secured by first deeds of trust—mostly on single family residences.

AS LONG as home owners show interest in do-it-yourself jobs around the house there will always be new products to keep them happy. A waterproof floor paint recently produced by Sapolin gives a colorful and protective finish to concrete and masonry floor surfaces that can be used indoors and out. Called Stone-Dri, it is said to resist the chemical action of lime and alkali, withstand scrubbing, acids, abrasives, strong soaps and frequent wetting. It is non-flammable and may be walked on within an hour after application.

Soundproofing of ceilings in game rooms or workshops can be done attractively with a new Goodrich vinyl sheeting produced by Contrex Co., Chelsea, Mass. In addition to absorbing sound it also gives soft light diffusion. This product called Soundsheet is perforated with many tiny holes and a thin sheathing of paper is laminated to each side. It is available in translucent or opaque sheets, corrugated or flat.

A line of ceiling-mounted heaters for bathroom or kitchen has been introduced by Westinghouse Electric Co. Three models—heater only, a combination heat and light unit, and a heater-light-fan combination are available. Units are recessed between ceiling joists. Frames snap out for easy cleaning and light bulb replacement.

Consolidated Paint and Varnish Corp., Cleveland, has turned out a highly reflective roof coating which it says will cut indoor building temperatures by 15 to 25 degrees. The aluminum coating is waterproof and is applied by brush.

AMONG new gimcracks for sportsmen is a lightweight skin-diving pack of aluminum made with a minimum of straps and buckles usually found on such equipment. Tank, regulator weights and harness are arranged to fit body contours closely to eliminate shifting. An instant release frees the weights for buoyancy. Hypro Diving Equipment Corp., Allston, Mass. is the manufacturer.

A thread-winding machine for fishermen and golfers is a recent product of the B-C Co., Seattle. The winder is clamped or screwed to the workbench and does a neat, professional job on rod or golf club.

Cast-a-Wate, a disappearing fish line weight which dissolves in the water leaving the fly or bait to float naturally is a new lure for anglers—produced by Hilmor, Inc., Palo Alto.

IMPORTED merchandise is slated to be more heavily represented in stores this fall. Special emphasis will be on French fashions, ready-to-wear from France, England and West Germany, and Italian sportswear.

RETAIL SALES throughout the country should rise to a new all-time high in the second half of 1960, according to A. W. Zelomek of the International Statistical Bureau.

Reasons: A steady increase in the average incomes of families and individuals. More family members are holding jobs.

Sales, Use Taxes Rise

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California cities and counties report that their local sales and use taxes collections rose by more than 13 per cent during the past fiscal year.

The State Board of Equalization, which collected the taxes for the local governments, said yesterday that taxable business for those in the program for two or more years increased by 13½ per cent in 1959-60 over the previous fiscal year.

Men To Replace Machines For Vehicle Count Sunday

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Some 6,000 persons will be out on the roads Sunday, counting cars and proving that man is mightier than the machine.

They'll be taking part in the state's 37th annual auto count, designed to measure highway needs, improve road design and identify trouble spots. Counters will man 4,150 checking stations.

Such counts must be made by people, the Division of Highways said, because machines can't distinguish between cars, trucks, buses, cars with trailers and the number of axles on trucks — all of which must be counted.

In last July's check, more than 60 million vehicles were counted between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. on two successive days.

Boy, 9, Hurt Driving Car At High Speed

WOODLAND (AP) — A 9-year-old boy stole a car here last night, led police on a high speed chase for more than 30 miles, then crashed into a power pole near Williams, 38 miles north of Woodland.

Rocky Tatum, a fourth-grader, was taken to Colusa Memorial Hospital in critical condition with head injuries and facial cuts.

Rocky, 4 foot 6 and 68 pounds, was reported missing by his grandmother, Mrs. Maudie Tatum. A few minutes later, highway patrolmen heard reports from motorists that a car with a tiny driver was weaving north along U.S. 99W at a high speed.

Williams Policeman Bucky Dowden, and a Highway Patrol car gave chase but Rocky ignored their flashing signals and sirens.

Dowden said the boy, doing better than 80 m.p.h., tried to pass a truck on the right-hand side, lost control and shot 75 feet off the highway, knocking over a power pole.

Neighbors said Rocky was taught to drive by his grandfather two years ago.

"The trouble is," said his grandmother, "he likes to drive too fast."

Two Scouts Named Jamboree Delegates

Jeff Teather, senior patrol leader, and Rex Noah will represent Boy Scout Troop 9 of Belvedere-Tiburon at the national Boy Scout Jamboree in Colorado Springs. The Scouts will leave July 18 and return July 31.

At the final troop meeting held recently in Whitaker Hall of St. Stephen's Church, Jim Allen received Life Scout rank and Rex Noah, Star Scout.

Palmer Trails By 7 After Second Round

COMBINED AP & UPI

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — Roberto De Vicenzo, towering golf pro from Mexico, took over the lead in the British Open tourney today by registering a second straight 67 for a 36-hole score of 134.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., the U.S. Open king, was seven strokes back at 141 after a solid 71 in his second trip over the Old Course. Peter Thompson of Australia also had 141.

Kel Nagle, balding Australian, was second at 136 after a 67 today. Weather conditions were ideal during the morning hours.

De Vicenzo, born in Argentina but a Mexico City pro the past five years, went out in one under par 34 after birdies at the fifth and sixth holes. He was 33 coming back.

Palmer, who is seeking to add the coveted British Open title to his Masters and U.S. Open crowns, shot 35-36-71 on top of yesterday's 70, despite the fact he couldn't get his putter working.

The final two rounds will be played tomorrow.

Jack Isaacs of Langley Air Force Base, Va., shot himself out of the competition with a 38-39-77 for a total of 154.

Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, who had a first-round 75, was the only other American still in competition. He still was on the course, needing a top-notch round to qualify for tomorrow's finale.

Palmer, was magnificent off the tee. Typical was the 18th where he drove a good 300 yards, landing on the edge of a macadam round, and despite a difficult lie dropping his approach within 20 feet of the cup. Then his putt rolled around the edge.

Palmer clipped one stroke off par with a 35 going out, racking up eight pars plus a birdie three on the sixth hole. He would have had a brilliant card except for those putts—a nine-footer that rimmed the cup on the second, a 12-footer that was inches short on the third, and a missed four-footer on the fifth.

ARNOLD UPSET

Palmer was so upset by his failure to can that third-hole putt that he threw his putter down in disgust and didn't pick it up again for several minutes.

The U.S. star also was one under par coming back with a 36, this time with six pars, two birds, and a bogey four on the 11th hole. After that bogey, Palmer came right back for a birdie three on the 12th and added a birdie four on the 14th.

STILL HOPEFUL—Arnold Palmer, U. S. Open king, is pictured in action during British Open, still hopeful of victory although he trails by seven strokes going into final two rounds to be played tomorrow. (UPI Photo)

Has Stoneham Given Up On Club's Chances For Pennant This Year?

CONNOLLY

From where I sit and from what I hear, the lowdown on the Giants is that President Horace Stoneham apparently has given up on his club's chances for a championship in 1960 by keeping Tom "Clancy" Sheehan as manager.

The thinking is that the management isn't squarely set on a successor to Bill Rigney. There is no weeping or shedding of salt tears on the change, but there is quite a hitch on the selection of the next permanent manager.

The Giants came home today to roost, a much sadder, but a much wiser club. They opened against St. Louis in a two-game setto, then the Cubs for two more, then skip four straight days before the Dodgers come to town for a three-game engagement. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and Cincinnati follow before the club takes off for its eastern journey on Aug. 1.

NOW, TO get back to the managerial setup. This presents a somewhat peculiar arrangement. There is no reason for it, but that is a trait of the Giants. Nobody seems to know why they do things, or for what. But, betwixt and between, the management always seems to be in a dither.

Either Stoneham debates too long before he makes the move, or he listens too long until he makes the change. But whenever a change comes, you can wager it is made by Horace Stoneham and not any hustling, bustling nephew.

Either Lippy Durocher, Eddie Stanky or Joe Gordon could have been "had" at the time of the managerial change. But all three were side-tracked for "Grandfather" Sheehan, a helluva guy, smart and, contrary to stories out of the east, no shoo-fly guy.

IF YOU can see over the top of your nose, there is quite a smattering of politics involved.

A writer named Dick Young out of New York, for instance, clobbered Clancy Sheehan by painting him as a "hatchet man," etc.

And yet, strangely enough, the first guy to be interviewed on the radio by the Giant broadcaster was this same Dick Young.

Young, in my book is a great baseball writer. He has followed the game, studied it, is strong in his likes or dislikes and is a real baseball writer.

He is no friend of "Clancy" Sheehan's.

He may be a friend of Bill Rigney's. I dunno. But isn't it strange that, of all the eastern writers in Pittsburgh for the Giant series, they had to pick on Young to interview?

The radio interviewer is a loving pal of the Giant Vice President Chub Feeney and a warm personal friend of Rigney's.

BUT IS the radio interviewer a buddy-buddy of Sheehan's?

So my analysis of the interview is very simple: I think it may have been to give credence to the story by Young that "Clancy" Sheehan knifed Rigney, and, before him, Leo Durocher.

And, in my opinion Sheehan, may have been a house dick and a copper, but to try to slip the shiv to anybody is a bit too imaginative for me to swallow. Tom isn't that kind of person.

As they say in the classic, it looks like there is no joy in Mudville, because Casey struck out.

49ers Sign Back, Tackle; Workouts To Start July 19

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Halfback Dan Smith of Northeastern Oklahoma and tackle Billy Borders of Montana State, a pair of free agents, came to terms today with the San Francisco 49ers.

Smith paced Northeastern Oklahoma to 11 straight victories and the NAIA football title in 1958. Included in the win streaks was a Holiday Bowl victory over Arizona State College of Flagstaff.

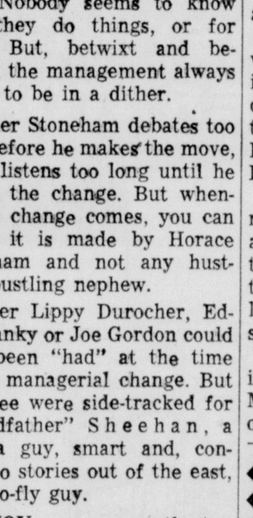

During his three years at Northeastern Oklahoma, Smith averaged 80 points per season and seven yards per carry.

Borders, who stands six-feet-two and weighs 247 pounds, comes from Oakland and played for Oakland Junior College.

Both rookies report to training camp at St. Mary's College on July 19. They will be joined by veterans John Thomas, Frank Morze, Karl Rubke, John Wittenborn, Henry Schmidt, Lenny Lyles and C. R. Roberts. The older group is checking in for early workouts at the request of Coach Red Hickey. Show up time for the rest of the squad at Moraga is July 22.

Tennis Tourney Entry Deadline Next Week

Hey, kids! Don't miss tomorrow's issue of the Independent-Journal. The sports section will publish the entry blank for the annual Marin Junior Tennis Tournament which will be played July 15-16 and 22-23 in San Rafael.

Co-sponsored by the I-J and the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department, the tournament is open to all boys and girls under 19 years of age.

Deadline for filing entries is next Tuesday at 5 p.m. Clip the entry blank from tomorrow's paper, fill it out and get it to the Tournament Director Joe Rodota at the San Rafael City Hall by next Tuesday. Rodota also will accept entries over the telephone.

Beautiful trophies will be presented to the top stars by the I-J in all 12 classifications. The divisions are broken down into age groups of under 18, under 15, under 13 and under 11, in singles for both boys and girls, and doubles for boys and girls in the under 18 and under 15 groups.

Last year more than 240 entries competed in the annual tourney and Director Rodota predicts that record will topple this year. "We've had a great many inquiries about the tournament," Rodota said, "and interest is at a peak. This year's event should be a smash hit."

FUTILE ON MOUND, AT BAT

Giants Stagger Home From Nightmarish Visit To L.A.

The Giants staggered home today, hoping to recover from a 14-game road trip in which they lost nine.

Windy Candlestick Park never looked so good—especially after two nightmares in the Los Angeles Coliseum where the Giants were shellacked twice by the Dodgers and couldn't find home plate with a subpoena.

The Dodgers' Stan Williams (8-2) handcuffed the Giants with a three-hitter in Los Angeles last Wednesday night, beating them 10-0. Coming right after Johnny Podres' 8-0 victoryof Tuesday night, it left the San Franciscans looking futile at bat and on the mound.

Sam Jones (10-7), the Giants' big stopper of 1959, drew the pitching assignment today against the St. Louis Cardinals' Larry Jackson (9-8) in the Candlestick homecoming.

When the Giants left town June 20, they were in second place, four games behind Pittsburgh. Today they're third, seven behind the Pirates and 1½ behind Milwaukee. San Francisco is just 1½ games ahead of the Dodgers and but two in front of fifth-place St. Louis.

CLANCY ON SPOT

Big Clancy Sheehan, winner just six times in the 16 decisions since he replaced Bill Rigney as San Francisco manager, has his work cut out for him.

Giant owner Horace Stoneham assures that Sheehan is set as manager for the rest of the year, but rumbles around the league are that Leo Durocher will be returning to the helm in 1961.

Sheehan's on the spot Rigney was on: Win—or else!

Three Dodger home runs were included in Los Angeles' 13-hit assault on three Giant hurlers last night. Pitcher Williams, generally rated a weakling with the bat, socked one, big Frank Howard rapped his 11th of the year and Norm Sherry belted No. 7.

The loss went to luckless Billy O'Dell, now 3-8 despite one of the National League's finest earned run averages.

The win gave Williams a season's record of 8-2 and a handsome earned run average of 2.32. His homer in the fourth was the second in his major league career. The other was off Sal Maglie, then of the St. Louis Cardinals, in 1958.

But above all, 230-pound Stan has mastered control, and as teammate Wally Moon pointed out, he has also matured considerably in recent weeks.

As for control, Williams walked 33 men in his first 53 innings this season.

As of today, however, Williams has walked only four in 59⅓ innings—and not one in the last 23 innings, including his latest great performance.

Williams has allowed only nine earned runs in 59⅓ innings, the best ERA of any right-hand starter in the National League.

Williams disclosed that he tamed Willie Mays and Co. the first half of the game on his fast ball and slider, using the latter pitch primarily in the final stages. He threw 118 pitches, about average.

Yanks, Bucs Widen Leads; Maris Ahead Of Ruth HR Pace

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Did you catch Roger Maris and Bob Skinner in that sneak preview of the All-Star game?

You should have because it was a smash hit all the way around. Maris and Skinner will be on opposite sides come World Series time next fall.

Maris helped the Yankees widen their American League lead to two games when he hit his 27th homer last night in a 5-2 victory over the Orioles, while Skinner put the Pirates 5½ games ahead in the National League with an inside-the-park grand-slam homer that routed the Reds, 5-2.

The homer by Maris, off loser Skinny Brown, moved him seven games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 1927 time-table. Ruth didn't hit his 27th homer until the Yankees' 78th game that year and last night's game was the Yankees' 71st. Cletis Boyer also homered against the Orioles, who were held to seven hits by Whitey Ford, now 5-5.

In the game between the Pirates and Reds, Cincinnati led 1-0 behind Bob Purkey until the eighth inning when Pittsburgh tied the score on a single and three walks. Facing relieved Bill Henry, Skinner then sent a sinking liner to left field which rolled all the way to the wall as Wally Post made a futile attempt at a shoestring catch. Rookie Tom Cheney was the winner. Gus Bell and Ed Bailey homered for the Reds.

The White Sox defeated the Indians, 7-5, the Senators downed the Red Sox, 4-0, and the Athletics beat the Tigers, 6-4, in other American League games.

PHILS TOP BRAVES

In the National League, the Phillies humbled the Braves, 8-5, in 10 innings, the Dodgers walloped the Giants, 10-0, and the Cubs crushed the Cardinals, 10-1.

Roy Sievers' two-run homer in the ninth inning and Gerry Staley's neat relief chore enabled the White Sox to defeat the Indians. Staley, who won his ninth game against three losses, relieved Russ Kemmerer in the sixth and retired 11 men in a row before pinch-hitter Bob Hale singled in the ninth. Bobby Locke was the loser. Woodie Held and Gene Freese also hit homers.

Rookie left-hander Jack Kralick hurled the Senators to their victory over the Red Sox with a four-hitter. Washington won the game with a four-run rally in the first inning at the expense of Jerry Casale, who walked four and gave up a two-run single to Jose Valdivielso.

Knuckleballer Bud Daley won his 12th game for the A's by limiting the Tigers to six hits. Kansas City erased a 4-3 deficit by scoring two runs off loser Frank Lary in the eighth on a single, Jerry Lumpe's double, an infield out and a wild pitch. Al Kaline hit a three-run homer for Detroit.

PITCHER HOMERS

Gene Conley of the Phils completed a pitcher's dream in beating the Braves for his fifth triumph. He not only pitched two hitless innings in relief, but also tagged loser Don McMahon for a three-run homer with two out in the 10th for the clincher. Joe Adcock homered for the Braves, who turned in a triple play started by second baseman Chuck Cottier in the seventh.

George Altman drove in six runs with a pair of homers for the Cubs and Ernie Banks accounted for three more with his 25th homer in the carnage against the Cards. Glen Hobbie, 8-10, limited St. Louis to six hits, including an eighth-inning homer by Bill White. Bob Gibson started for the Cardinals, but was under the shower by the third inning.

Sohner's Loses Warmup For Hub Softball Tourney

Pitcher Ed Johnson socked a two-run homer over the left field fence in the eighth inning to give Presidio Army Base a thrilling 4-2 softball victory over Sohner Tree Service Tuesday night on the winner's diamond.

Presidio and Sohner's are both entered in the San Anselmo Recreation Department's First Invitational Softball Tournament to be held July 27-31 at San Anselmo's Memorial Park. Other teams entered are McPhail's, Jameson Trucking of Petaluma and Hamilton Air Force Base.

Jack Phillips gave the Treemen an early lead when he boomed a home run over the center-field wall in the second inning Tuesday night. Presidio came back with single runs in the fourth and fifth innings, but Sohner's tied the score in the sixth on a walk to Tom Orovich and Sam Ramponi's two-out double. That's the way it stood until Johnson unloaded his game-winning blast which cleared the fence by 30 feet.

Phillip's homer, Ramponi's double, and singles by Art Donati, Orovich, Ron Jerome and Keith Fraser accounted for Sohner's offensive attack. Bob Alvarado and Ramponi contributed sparkling defensive plays for the San Anselmo nine.

Tennis Assn. Nixes 'Open' Tourney Play

PARIS (AP) — Business goes on as usual in the tennis world next year — with the professionals working one side of the street and the amateurs the other.

There will be no mixing, except as Jack Kramer may scramble the field by enticing some of the better amateurs into his professional fold.

The prospect of open tournaments, pitting the pros against the amateurs, was battered down yesterday by the smaller nations in the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

Proponents of the idea, who were sure they had enough votes for acceptance, were stunned. Unofficial reports said that some strong supporters were so sure of victory that they slipped out of the meeting before the vote, feeling that their help was not needed.

All of the big tennis nations—Australia, Great Britain, France, the United States—voted in favor.

In fact open tournaments got a big majority in the voting, but the 134 to 75 tally was five votes short of the required two-thirds.

The question is certain to be raised at the next annual meeting of the federation in Stockholm next July. But the first open tournaments cannot be held before 1962 — even if next year's meeting gives the green light.

Even after the federation gives its approval — if it finally does — arrangements will have to be fixed on which tournaments will have the right to let the amateurs and professionals play against one another. And, of course, there may be protracted negotiations over the prize money to be offered.

L.A. May Land Third Heavy Title Fight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The third Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johannson bout and a middleweight title bout between Gene Fullmer and Sugar Ray Robinson may be brought to Los Angeles this fall, the California Athletic Commission indicated today.

Feature Sports Inc., which promoted the second Patterson-Johannson fight in New York and then complained over lack of police protection, disclosed it had applied for a license to stage the "rubber" meeting between the pair at the vast Los Angeles Coliseum. A State Athletic Commission hearing on the application is scheduled for July 16.

At the same time the United Press International learned that the Olympic Boxing Club, local promoters, are dickering for the Fullmer-Robinson bout as the first television show of the fall season.

Promotor Cal Eaton is trying to land the Fullmer-Robinson bout for Oct. 8 and was reported prepared to object to the Patterson-Johannson fight if Feature Sports Inc. intends to stage it within a few weeks of his proposed show. The Fullmer-Robinson match would be held in the 18,000-seat Sports Arena, scene of next week's Democratic National Convention and only across a roadway from the Coliseum.

In New York, Bill Fugazy, majority stockholder in Feature Sports Incorporated, said: "We lean toward Los Angeles as the site for the fight. And if we hold it there, it will be in early November at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum."

Marin Skier Wins Midsummer Slalom

Peter Stragnola of San Rafael, a junior at University of San Francisco, won his division this week in the Squaw Valley Ski Club's annual midsummer ski derby at Sibera Bowl, Squaw Valley.

He streaked down the 320-meter, 14-gate slalom course in 27-4 seconds to win Class C Men's Division by two-tenths of a second.

Akins Blames 'Bad Cold' For Poor Showing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Veteran welterweight Virgil Akins blames a "bad cold" for his lack-luster performance against unbeaten Luis Rodriguez before a nationwide TV audience.

"We could have cancelled our appearance if it hadn't been for the benefit," he said after the fight.

Promoter Bill King set aside 35 per cent of the gross gate receipts for the widow and six children of popular Louisville welterweight Rudell Stitch who drowned recently in a heroic attempt to save a friend.

The crowd of 995 paid $2,739 Wednesday night to watch Rodriguez win a unanimous decision over Akins and swell his victory string to 29. Akins' mark dropped to 51-25-1.

Mrs. Stitch received $958.90 plus a check for $100 from TV announcer Jack Drees.

Both fighters weighed 147 pounds.

Musial On All-Star Team For 17th Time

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers today filled out the National League All-Star games roster and it included the veteran Stan Musial.

Alston also named a staff of 10 pitchers for the two games with the American League All-Stars to be played at Kansas City next Monday and at New York Wednesday. Pittsburgh dominates the squad with eight Pirates on the roster.

The pitchers Alston selected were: Bob Buhl of Milwaukee; Elroy Face, Bob Friend and Vernon Law of Pittsburgh; Bill Henry of Cincinnati; Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel of St. Louis; Mike McCormick of San Francisco and Johnny Podres and Stan Williams of Alston's Los Angeles club.

It was both sentiment and respect for Musial's hitting ability that led to his selection, although the Cardinal veteran, nearing the end of his career, has played in only 53 games this year and 14 of them were as only a pinch-hitter. "Sure, sentiment entered into it," said Alston. But he added: "He (Musial) is the kind of a man I'd like to have around if a situation develops in the ball game where a big hit could win the game. Stan is hitting again and is capable of winning the game for us with a timely blow in the right spot."

Musial is hitting .281 with 39 hits in 139 times at bat. He has batted in 19 runs. This will mark his 17th All-Star appearance, a Major League record.

Players picked the starting lineups, excluding pitchers, for the games and Alston went along with them by naming all of the second choices to the squad.

To supplement the starters, Alston named Smokey Burgess of Pittsburgh, and Ed Bailey of Cincinnati as catchers; Ken Boyer and Bill White of St. Louis, Dick Groat of Pittsburgh, Norm Larker and Charlie Neal of Los Angeles, and Tony Taylor of Philadelphia, infielders; Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco, Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, Vada Pinson of Cincinnati and Musial as outfielders.

Musial, Cepeda and White all have played both first base and in the outfield.

The National League's starting lineup will have Del Crandall of Milwaukee, catcher; Joe Adcock, Milwaukee, first base; Bill Bazeroski, Pittsburgh, second base; Ernie Banks, Chicago, shortstop; Ed Mathews, Milwaukee, third base; and Hank Aaron, Milwaukee, Willie Mays, San Francisco, and Bob Skinner, Pittsburgh, outfielders.

O'Connell Sparks Marin Catholic '5'

Ron O'Connell scored 19 points, including the winning field goal, to give Marin Catholic High a 33-31 victory over Redwood High last night in the feature game on the Tamalpais Summer Basketball League's triple-header.

In other games Drake, paced by Brad Brusch's 16 points, downed Novato 28-17 and Tam topped San Rafael 25-21.

Leona Chartock carded a net 67 to win the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club's "Tray Day" net handicap tournament this week on the Novato links. She had a 94 gross and 27 handicap.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Third Of July Brought Early Fireworks To This Bay Angler

STEVENS

Howdy, folks! The third day of July will hereafter always be a red letter day for angler Joe Beasley. That was the day Joe parked his car at Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor just before 8 a. m., gathered up his gear and hurried to board the good ship Dowrelio No. 6, skippered by Jack O'Brien, and settled himself for a day of fishing.

Skipper O'Brien had decided to give morning trolling a whirl in the Rock Wall area. Joe set his drag so that there was just enough tension to prevent the line from unreeling, rested his rod over the railing and waited for something to happen.

About mid morning it did. The tip of his rod nodded to attract his attention, then swished down until the rod-tip almost met the water. Joe tensed; he fought an almost overwhelming desire to heave back to set the hook in the mouth of whatever was on the hook. His better judgement prevailed, however, and he allowed the reel to sing its paen of victory for a full minute before he unsnapped the clutch and tightened the star drag very slightly. The line on his reel continued uncoiling; he moved the star a bit more, but it made no difference — the line continued to disappear under the surface.

THE OTHER anglers sensed that Joe had himself a real fish on his line. They reeled in and enjoyed a thrill in watching the battle between Joe and the fish. After long moments they all saw a swirl in the calm water, a broad tail slapped the surface. "It's a bass, and a whopper!" called one of the watchers.

Joe said nothing, but he was probably silently praying that the fish wouldn't break free. He knew that he had his dream fish on. If he could only keep his head, remember not to "horse" his catch in. If the thin line and thinner leader would hold, and if the hook of his lure was firmly imbedded in the grizzly mouth of this lunker bass . . .

Joe Beasley did keep his head; the line and leader did hold and the hook was firmly imbedded. After long minutes of give and take and skillful handling, the bass was brought alongside the boat and netted. It was 37½ pounds of piscatorial perfection. Oh, yes. Joe caught two more fish to make his limit. There were 19 fish netted by the skipper. It's remarkable how small a 10 pound fish looks when beside one weighing 37½ pounds.

Late evening trolling continues good out of Crockett. Sixty bass came in on Sunday evening.

JOE BEASLEY wasn't the only angler who hit the jackpot on the weekend. Jimmy Collins, who has a home bordering the Santa Venetia Slough, cast out a baited hook on Monday and hooked, played and landed a nice striper that weighed 27½ pounds. That's literally catching fish in one's back yard.

Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia Slough, who reported the Collins incident, also reported Stanley Fisher with a nine-pound striper on bait, also in the slough, and one of seven pounds he, Joe himself, caught from the boat landing.

JACK REEVES of San Rafael landed his legal limit trolling near the duck blinds, one of which was a 16-pounder. Nerviani told us fishing has been slow outside because of rough water, but it is certain there are fish to be had when the boats can get out after them.

SID McMULLIN of Caruso's Harbor reported the salmon boats were averaging from 6 to 10 fish to the boat the past four days. "Some fairly fast action is being had on the first of the ebb tide near the Richardson Bay Bridge," he reported.

THE STATE dumped a fresh load of catchable-sized trout in Lake Lagunitas this week.

Balding Smashes Par In Canadian Open Golf Tourney

TORONTO (AP) — Al Balding, who has had indifferent luck on the pro golf trail the last several years, hopes his luck has finally changed.

The 36-year-old Toronto shotsmith posted an 8-under-par 64 to take the first round lead yesterday in the Canadian Open Golf Championship at the suburban St. George's Club. He goes into today's second round with a one-stroke lead over Don January of Dallas who blew a chance for a tie on the final hole.

There are about 30 players within easy striking distance of Balding, including another Canadian surprise, 25-year-old Al Johnston from Montreal who shot a 66.

Hub Pitcher Wins Pair Over Fourth

Pitcher Stan Chapman of the San Anselmo Merchants allowed only nine hits in two games over the long holiday weekend as the Merchants clipped Currie Construction twice, 5-4, Saturday and 3-2, Monday.

In a third contest in the Hub City's Senior League—for 15-16-17-year-olds — first-place Guasco Super Market was held to an 11-11 tie with Iacopi Meat Co.

The Merchants' two wins moved them to second-place and dropped Currie to tail-enders in the four-team league.

In the 5-4 Saturday win Chapman allowed six hits and notched a two-run homer and a single at the plate. His three-hitter in the 3-2 Monday game erased a previous 3-3 tie between the two clubs. Currie pitcher Russ Honeyman allowed only four hits Monday, but walked in the winning run in the sixth inning.

Iacopi Meats bombed Guasco for eight runs off five hits in the third inning of their 11-11 tie. Steve Purcell came on in the fourth to relieve Guasco's Chuck Reindollar and allowed only two hits and one run the rest of the abbreviated six inning contest. The game will be replayed at a later date, although individual records will stand.

Lynch, of Lewes, Del., was driving his nine-year-old trotter, Hobo, when Chief Freight, stumbled and went down on the last turn. Hobo piled into him. Ray Reward, followed, slammed into the tangle. The other two drivers suffered only minor injuries.

LITTLE LEAGUE REALLY TAKEN TO CLEANERS

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A Little League baseball team reports it has been taken to the cleaners.

Abe Guritzky, of the Chancellor Avenue playground youth council, said yesterday the playground's team uniforms — all 140 — had been given to a laundry truck at the field. The truck hasn't been seen since.

Guritzky said the laundry wasn't authorized. The custodian failed to get a receipt and can't remember the laundry's name. Guritzky said the suits, usually cleaned at season's end in June, were worth $2,000.

Ortega Decisions Johnny Gonsalves

OAKLAND (AP) — Gaspar Ortega of Mexicali, Mexico, suffered a gash over his left eye last night, but still took a unanimous welterweight victory over Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland in a 10-round fight.

There were no knockdowns. Ortega, 144, received the cut in the furious 10th round. Gonsalves weighed 141.

BROWN HOLDS OUT ON PARLEY VOTES

Kennedy Forces Apparently Fail As Governor Resists All Pressure

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The vital votes of California apparently still are beyond the first ballot reach of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts at the Democratic National Convention.

His supporters reportedly failed today in their attempt to persuade Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California to step aside as California's favorite son candidate before the balloting begins in Los Angeles next week.

The Kennedy people want Brown to come out for their man. The capture of much of California's 81 votes by Kennedy, they feel, might stampede a first ballot victory for the senator.

The pressure on Brown was described as terrific. It came both from Kennedy supporters and from supporters of Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and Adlai Stevenson. They want Brown to hold on and perhaps prevent Kennedy from winning on the first ballot.

Meanwhile, half-page advertisements in metropolitan newspapers heralded a nationwide drive to draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for the Republican nomination.

William M. Brinton, national chairman, announced the opening of headquarters in San Francisco Wednesday.

In New York, Rockefeller and Charles H. Percy, chairman of the Republican platform committee, met for three hours Wednesday to discuss political issues.

Nixon came under attack Wednesday from the Democratic Digest, a party publication. It said the U-2 spy plane incident exploded what it called the myth that Nixon attends high policy meetings in the administration.

In Los Angeles, the Democratic platform committee heard a plea today for a bolder federal approach to civil rights. The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights—an association of 30 organizations — made the plea.

RADIO CONTACT LOST WITH PIONEER V

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Jodrell Bank radio telescope finally has lost track of America's Pioneer V deep space probe at about 23 million miles out, President Eisenhower was advised today.

Dr. A. C. B. Lovell, director of the world's largest radio telescope, located near Manchester, England, told the president that reports from the space explorer had been successfully received until the last few days.

Information on cosmic explosions and other space phenomenon has come from a five-watt transmitter which was turned on and off on command from Jodrell Bank.

Two Testify Louisiana Committeeman Sober

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A bipartisan pair of passengers said today that Louisiana's national committeeman was stone sober and not drunk, as charged, when he arrived in Los Angeles aboard an airliner last Friday night.

One of Camille Gravel's fellow passengers, a Republican, even admitted that he, and not Gravel, was the mysterious martini pilferer of the Delta-American flight from Fort Worth.

Richard C. McChrystal, a Los Angeles chemical engineer, absolved Gravel of any complicity in the theft of the box of six pre-mixed martinis in mid-flight.

The other passenger, Edward Sam Self of New Orleans—"I think I'm a Democrat," — also said that Gravel had nothing to do with taking the martinis while the stewardess was away.

Gravel's troubles started some time after he landed and had become separated from both Self and McChrystal at the airport.

Gravel, a prominent Alexandria, La. attorney, thought he was being met by a reception committee because, after all, he was the man responsible for bringing the Democratic National Convention to Los Angeles as arrangements chairman.

The reception committee turned out to be the police, who whisked Gravel to jail, booked him as a drunk, and tossed him in the "tank" for three hours.

He was released on $21 bond and his trial is scheduled on July 19, shortly after the convention is scheduled to end.

Jack London Park Will Open Sept. 1

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Jack London historic state park near Glenn Ellen in Sonoma County will open to the public Sept. 1.

The State Division of Beaches and Parks said today that construction and refurbishing delays prevented an earlier opening.

Novato's Mayor Womack Fill In As Acting City Treasurer

Novato's Mayor Wayne Womack put on a new hat today. He now is acting city treasurer.

City councilmen Tuesday night accepted the resignation of Wayne Hathaway as city treasurer and appointed George Toccalino.

City officials noted Hathaway's "fine" work but decided that the city treasurer should be connected with the bank where city funds are deposited.

Hathaway had worked for the Central Valley National Bank, but now is selling insurance. Hearing the council decision to keep bank-treasurer under the same roof, he amicably offered to resign.

By yesterday, with $2,300 worth of warrants representing June bills to be signed, city officials were wondering who would sign. Hathaway was out and Toccolino was not in, with no bond and no oath of office.

City Atty. Clark M. Palmer ruled that, in such a situation, the mayor is acting treasurer.

Belvedere Building Drops During June

Belvedere building dropped off a great deal last month as compared with that of a year ago, Building Inspector Britton Rey said today.

The total for this June was $19,125 as against $136,693 for 1959. There were seven permits taken out last month, four for additions to apartment and homes and three for additions other than buildings. There were no new buildings.

LEARNING TO COOK is a joy, according to, from left, Kate Rothrock, Susan Gabbs, and Barbara Roberts. Thirty-two Ross girls are learning the art from PG&E home economist, Virginia Shattuck. Ross Summer Program Attracts 279 Children In The Community

What kind of a summer program would appeal to the greatest number of Ross children?

Two years ago, the members of the Ross School Parent-Teacher Assn. wrestled with this question, and after discarding the summer school and the playground recreation solutions, hit upon a happy medium.

The answer was to schedule regular classes, with accredited teachers, offering the opportunity to develop vocational and recreational skills.

In the summer of 1959, 185 children of the Ross School District were enrolled. Attendance was voluntary, but with few exceptions there were no dropouts nor absentees. Swimming and tennis were the most popular courses, with the emphasis on skilled teaching of a planned course of instruction, giving a maximum of individual attention. Most of the tennis students were beginners who advanced rapidly enough to stage a tournament at the conclusion of the four-week course, while almost 100 per cent of the swimmers received proficiency awards from Mrs. Jo Egenburger, instructor.

Other courses in typing, dressmaking, sketching, and arts and crafts were arranged by the P-TA. Determined to make this a continuing success, Mrs. Lester Bricca, P-TA president in 1960, appealed to the Ross School District and the town of Ross for limited financial aid, so that a program director might be appointed to relieve the load on the volunteer workers. The Recreation Committee, when this aid was promised, selected Mrs. Charles Doyle as director, and met frequently with Mrs. Doyle to plan the 1960 summer program.

As a result of their efforts, woodworking, life saving and water safety, and cooking were added, while the six original subjects were overhauled and improved.

Lengthened to five weeks, there are now 279 children enrolled in 490 class hours, and the Ross Summer Program has become a permanent institution, attracting over 50 per cent of the eligible children of the community.

The second session will begin on July 13 and run through July 29.

Mrs. Russell Silva of Petaluma, grand president of Young Ladies Institute, recently made her official visit to St. Anselm's YLI No. 98 in San Anselmo.

Present plans call for the class to continue indefinitely with new members added as those mastering the various routines progress to more advanced groups.

Coordinating the details for the class are Robert Dunstan of the Southern Marin Folk Dancers, chairman; Emil Nelson of the Marin Whirlaways Folk and Square Dancers, and Robert Whitely of the Mill Valley Folk Dancers.

Camp Fire Girl Returns Enthused After First Session At Kilowana

"Camp Kilowana is the most exciting—so many new things happening—" remarked Chrissie Van Wart of Larkspur on her return from the first session of the Camp Fire Girls' resident camp on Mt. St. Helena. She was one of many who worked on and achieved the Fagot Finder honor, a new camp honor introduced this year along with Trail Blazer and Gypsy. These honors teach the art of camping—fire making, safety, and outdoor cooking.

Chrissie's unit, the Scouts, was directed by Barbara St. Amant, an education major at the University of California, who has special skills in music, dramatics, and swimming. The camp is divided into five age units. The youngest children, the Blue Birds, are Papooses, and were under the guidance of Cecilia Tutt, who is serving her second year on the staff of Kilowana. She attends the College of Holy Names in Oakland.

The Braves, the youngest Camp Fire Girls in camp, had Lynn Zumwalt as their director. She attends Northwestern University and lives in Kentucky, although she was a former San Anselmo resident and a camper at Kilowana. Jean Sales of Napa, a graduate of San Jose State, and a teacher in the Santa Clara County School District, was the counselor for the junior high age girls, the Hunters, and Thea West, from Wyoming, was with the Warriors, the senior campers. She has had considerable camping and organizational experience in Wyoming and attends Willamette University in Oregon.

The special counselors at Kilowana, are experienced in working with young people. Elizabeth Purcell, a San Jose State senior from San Rafael, is the waterfront director, assisted by Penny Edwards, from from Northwestern University. The Outdoors director, Judith Buzeh, attends the University of California and is an active worker in Girl Scouts in Visalia.

Mary Joan Wanlass of Novato is the handcraft director. She attends Brigham Young University in Utah, majoring in social welfare. She was Marin County's most outstanding 4-H girl for two consecutive years, teaches Sunday School, and has had much camping experience. The assistant program director is Marie Smeltzer. This is her third year on the Kilowana staff. She attends the College of Marin and is a part time physical education instructor at Dominican High School.

Eight Marin girls are on the general counselor staff. They are Jean, Mullen, Ellen Scott, Sandra Whelan, Donna Manuel, Sue Rovelli, Sherri Philippet, Sharon White, and Lura Simonds. From other areas come Carole Sill, Concord; Linda Rosenstock, San Francisco; and Karen Hahl, Sonoma.

Mrs. Sylvia Allen and Mrs. Sandy Keene, camp director and program director, respectively, are making the camp a memorable part of a Camp Fire Girl's life; Manny and Tina Porter, the cooks, are serving "oh, so good" meals; and the TLC (tender,loving care) is administered by the nurses Mrs. D. J. Sayer, Mrs. Russell Rhoads, and Mrs I. L. Politi.

Chrissie says, "I can't wait to go back next year!"

Have You Ever Seen Wash-Use Museum?

Even buildings are becoming "wash-and-use" these days. For instance: New York City's new Solomon R. Guggenheim Memorial Museum has been sprayed with a liquid vinyl coating.

Besides its many protective advantages, this "cocoon" coating permits keeping the museum clean simply by hosing it with sudsy water!

FERGUSONS TO HOST SWIM PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. A. Barlow Ferguson will host a swimming party at their Kent Woodlands home on Sunday from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The party is being given in honor of the young opera students who are attending the six weeks' Nerola Memorial Training program in San Francisco.

Sixteen students will be honored. Invitations have also been extended to Messrs. and Mesdames John Wolfe, Charles Howard Allen, Leon Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Furlong, all of Marin and Mrs. James C. Merrifield of San Francisco and San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Rosenberg also of San Francisco. They are committee members of the Opera Pops benefit which will be held July 24 at the Art and Garden Center in Ross at 4 p.m.

Second Class Set For Trimnastics

Because of the popularity of the first class which ends tomorrow a second class in Trimnastics is being scheduled at the Southern Marin Recreation Center. The new class will start Friday, July 15 and continue through Sept. 2. Starting time is 10:30 a.m. and the teacher is Mrs. Ingrid Wilmot.

Moving Time Can Be A Happy Time

You are not the only American family who has had to pull up stakes and move to a new city., Americans are a mobile lot and somehow they seem to survive—profit too—by establishing homes hither and yon.

Moving has very special meaning to children and if you want to have a smooth transition, you'd better consider how best to handle the question of moving the youngsters.

First and foremost, take them into your confidence in making the plans both about leaving and about re-settling. A child who is to be uprooted from his school and his neighborhood needs to feel a firm place in his family.

The moved child must depend completely on his family for his feeling of having a little niche of his own in this world.

The more he can share in the family plans the better.

A 10-year-old can hardly take part in the decision whether to move or not. Usually that's a choice up to Dad since it's usually Dad's job that brings about most family moves.

But once the decision has been made, be sure to tell the child about it. Tell him about Dad's new job, about how much it means to Dad to get this opportunity. The child will enjoy pride in Dad's promotion, too. But don't ignore what the move will mean to him. He will think about all the things he has to leave behind, his friends, the Scouts, maybe the little league baseball team. It will be a wrench for him. Be understanding, let him talk out his disappointment at not being able to finish with his gang.

Don't push the virtues of the new place on him until he is ready to listen. Let him know that you understand he is giving up something valuable to him because it's important to Dad. This is the stuff out of which family solidarity is made.

Slowly you will get around to the adventures ahead. Let them sink in gradually so they can be digested.

Delladee Graves Attends Summer Classes In Mexico

Delladee Graves of Sleepy Hollow left by plane Sunday to attend summer classes at Guadalajara, Mexico. During her six-week stay, she will live in a private home.

Classes are held at the Colegio Cervantes. The school is sponsored by the University of Arizona, where Delladee was a freshman last year, and Stanford University.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Graves of Sleepy Hollow, will join her for a two-week stay in Guadalajara in August and they then plan an air tour of Mexico.

Expand Garden Beyond Flowers

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—A usable, well-planned garden not only has grass and flowers, but contains many permanent structures as well.

L. J. Tolle, Michigan State University floriculturist, says that garden structures built of wood, concrete or other materials, while expensive in the beginning, usually are cheaper than plantings or less temporary solutions in the long run.

Some of the structures commonly found in gardens today include patios, pools, screens, fences and service area facilities.

Patios are popular garden structures nowadays. If built of brick, stone, concrete, wood or some other permanent material, they are more serviceable and last longer.

Suds Often To Sustain Sparkle

Sparkling hose have proven to be anything but a flash in the pan! Along with tights and lingerie made of various "sparkle" yarns, they show every sign of becoming permanent additions to feminine wardrobes.

And why not? Besides their obvious eye appeal, they are easy to suds after each wearing, and now cost less than when they were first introduced.

Gloriann Grande, daughter of Mrs. Dollie Pierce of San Rafael and John Grande of Santa Rosa, became the bride of Kenneth James Soldavini at Saint Rose's Catholic Church in Santa Rosa on June 26, at two o'clock.

Rev. Daniel E. O'Connor officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a silk organza chapel-length gown appliqued with roses and scalloped in a Dior effect. Roses also adorned the Sabrina neckline and short gathered sleeves. A shoulder-length veil was caught up in a seeded pearl coronet with four teardrop pearls. The bride carried orchids in a radiating waterfall effect with stephanotis and fleur d'amour.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Santa Rosa Odd Fellows Hall for 500 guests. Pink and white gladioli decorated the hall. The wedding cake was pale pink. Joann Miller of San Rafael was in charge of the guest book. Guests were served dinner and champagne.

The couple planned a two-week motor trip to Southern California and Yosemite. Mrs. Soldavini left wearing a blue chiffon dress with white embroidered flowers and white accessories and orchids.

The couple will reside at 323 D Street in San Rafael.

Belveron Guild Will Meet At Beckley Home In Tiburon

A night meeting is especially appropriate for the Belveron Guild of Sunny Hills who will get off to a flying start when they meet at 8 o'clock July 13 to start work on their "Night Mares and Night Wears Booth" for the 61st annual Grape Festival to be held on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Locale for the evening event will be the home of Mrs. Fred Beckley in Tiburon. Co-hostess for the fun evening will be Mrs. Harry Howard.

Members will have their "heads full" instead of "hands full" as they need to stuff and mount 160 horses' heads for hobby horses prior to the country festival which is always held the first Saturday in October on the Sunny Hills grounds in San Anselmo.

Officers of the Belveron Guild, who are one of the main contributors towards the 10 per cent operating fund of Sunny Hills which the Grape Festival supplies each year, are Mrs. Robert Dunstan, president; Mrs. Mack Staley, vice president; Mrs. Fred Zimmerman, secretary; Mrs. Louis Gerdine, treasurer; Messrs. R. W. Blakley and Clark Holmes, booth chairmen; and Mrs. Mack Staley, publicity chairman.

The Belveron Guild's booth is one of the most attractive at the Grape Festival because it is decorated with clever horses' heads, each horse having a definite personality of his own. Responsible for the clever expressions and new look to the horses heads is Mrs. Jack Field in charge of the design. Equally popular are the matching flannel nightgowns and pajama sets for mothers and daughters, and the bright fire red sets for young boys or girls.

The Belveron Guild of Sunny Hills has been turning over proceeds to Sunny Hills since April, 1952, when a dozen residents of that area formed the initial guild. Now 25 members work the year round to make this booth one of the most outstanding at the Grape Festival.

Nylon Mop

A newly-developed nylon mop head holds six times its weight in water. Dip this into a pail of hot soap or detergent just once, and it soaks up enough to wash an entire kitchen floor! It wrings out easily, is odor and mildew-free, and fits all standard mop holders.

Mrs. Chester Dennis Writes To Her Friends

Without being a Pollyanna, it's possible to retain a sense of humor with a fractured ankle.

At least this is true of Mrs. Chester Dennis of Mill Valley, who wrote funny notes last weekend on extraordinary stationery from Ross General Hospital to her friends—many of whom were unable to attend the Marin Art and Garden Fair she hasn't missed in years.

The stationery, designed and printed for her by a friend, Mrs. T. F. Collison of Mill Valley, shows a cartoon of Mrs. Dennis, complete with one of her "Dior hospital gowns," leg cast and crutches with a bouquet of roses tied to one.

In the upper right corner is a "coat of arms" composed of her initials, D.D., and three strawberries representing her hobby of collecting classware, linens and silver, or anything that has a strawberry design.

The inscription reads, "Any way you look at it, it's going to be a different summer."

And it certainly is, for Mrs. Dennis is usually very active in church and social affairs of many kinds. She has been in the hospital for six weeks and will be there some time yet.

Known for her wit, she added to the humor of the card with some of her own comments on needed improvements in equipment for convalescence.

She writes: "I'm told plaster of Paris was discovered near Paris in the 17th century. As far as I am able to discern, very little improvement in the procedure has been developed since.

"Another needed invention is a wheel-chair that has fewer of the features of the "Iron Maiden.'

"How is it on the outside?" was her closing query.

The Cacao Bean

NEW YORK (UPI)—The cacao bean, from which chocolate is made, was first known and used by the Aztec and Mayan people in Mexico.

When Cortez conquered the Aztecs in 1519 he also discovered the cacao bean. It was nick-named "chocolatl."

St. Hilary's Fashion Show To Feature Follies Costumes

A fashion show with a unique theme is being planned for Monday, Aug. 8 by the members of St. Hilary's Women's Club. Scheduled for Keil Cove, the show will feature not only fashions from one of San Francisco's leading stores but the past, present and future fashions in costumes of the Ice Follies.

Past costumes will be modeled by previous members of the cast, many of whom reside in Marin County; present costumes by those who are skating in the show now in progress in San Francisco and future costumes by the children of the former skaters.

Co-chairmen of the event will be Mesdames Robert Boat and Kirby Atterbury. Assisting are Mesdames Norman Sanguinetti, fashion coordinator; Robert Byrnes, publicity; Joseph Keller and Francis Ryan, refreshments, and John Jansheski, arrangements.

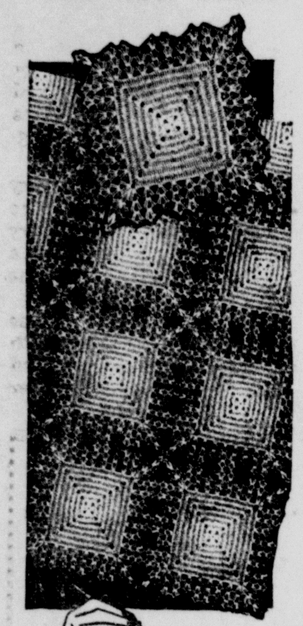

A shuttle service will start at 12:15 p.m. from the Boardwalk in Belvedere and refreshments will be served prior to the show.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Allen Olson in Belveron Gardens.

Paint Closets

Apply a coat of bright enamel to the interiors of closets as a real work-saver. It's much easier to wash the enamel with suds than to repaint closets. Besides this practical consideration, bright color aids closet visibility and promotes order.

Several Tips On How To Be Popular

By VIVIAN BROWN

How can one break the popularity barrier?

Every young girl wants to be popular, and failure to achieve the goal can make her miserable, affect her school work, her disposition and her attitude toward life.

Other girls have had this problem and have conquered it. If the timid girl could just talk it out she'd find the answers. But somehow she can't.

Here are ways other girls reacted to the situation:

SHY TYPE

Carol, 16, for instance, was the shy type:

"I wanted to be friends with everyone, but didn't know how. I sat around waiting to be asked to join organizations or to be invited to parties. One day my father told me that I should try to make friends, as one of his club members told him that young people thought I was nice, but very distant. I decided to stick around school more, and get involved in the activities. In no time at all, I had lots of friends."

Mary, 17, says her trouble was the braces she had to wear on her teeth:

"I used to think everyone was staring at me all the time. One day I overheard a boy say that I was pretty but never seemed to be happy. After that I decided maybe no one noticed the braces, and I practiced smiling so that my braces did not show. I decided it didn't make any difference whether I wore them as long as I had friends. I broke the ice by inviting people to a party at my house, and after that, I had a good time with everyone."

CLOTHES PROBLEM

Judy, 17, suffered chagrin because of her clothes. She was embarrassed because her mother made her clothes. Then one day, she says:

"A boy commented that my dress looked so original, and he always admired my clothes. It gave me a tremendous lift, and I decided that I had been very silly, envying the girls who had clothes from the stores."

Sandy, 17, had a height problem:

"All the boys I liked were short, and gave me an uncomfortable feeling when I was with them. I decided to beg off all dates with these boys, and wait for taller boys to come along. I soon realized I would be an old maid unless I took my chances with the nice boys I knew. This happened when I was 16. The boys are all taller now, and if I hadn't continued those friendships, I would have lost out completely."

Joanne's suspicions that everyone wanted to know her because she had material assets made her doubt that she had anything else to offer her friends.

"Every time I dated a boy and he suggested I bring my car, I would beg off, thinking that he just dated me for my car. Then every once in a while when I was with the girls I would get stuck for a major share of the bill, and I thought that perhaps it was the only reason they had invited me. I soon found that this wasn't so, that these incidents happened to others who were not as well off, and that some of it was merely the long arm of coincidence. When I started to enjoy my friends, I became more popular, and attracted many young people to my group who were richer than I."

GAIL SOARES IS ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Soares of San Rafael announce the engagement of their daughter, Gail, to John O. Goff of Gail, a June graduate of Marin Catholic High School, is now employed at the Pacific California Title Company.

John attended Tomales High School and is employed at the Strahm-Embury Tree Service in Kentfield. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Goff of Mill Valley and brother of Mrs. Geraldine Callahan of Strawberry, Collette Goff of San Rafael, and Frederick Goff, a corporal in the U.S. Marine Corps.

An early September wedding is planned.

One Example

If you think your hair takes a long time to dray after a shampoo, consider the case of Mrs. Maria Stec of Minneapolis. Her hair is five feet, three inches long—and requires two days to dry after lathering up!

Marin Groups Will Participate In Folk Dance Festival Sunday

Two Marin County groups will be represetned at the 15th annual Folk Dance Festival to be held at the College of Marin Sunday, July 10, from 1:30 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10:30 p.m.

They are the Marin Junior Dancers of San Rafael and the Nani Iolani Jolynesian Dance Group from the Southern Marin Recreation Center in Tiburon.

The Marin Junior Dancers are a group of sub-teen-agers directed by Joseph Angeli. One of their numbers will be a square dance called by 11-year-old Pee-Wee Angeli, son of the director.

The Nani Iolani Group specializes in ancient Polynesian dances using various implements such as coconut shells, feathered gourds and split bamboo sticks. The group started a year ago as a project of the Cove Players and has appeared at various functions such as folk dance festivals in San Francisco and Polynesian affairs throughout Marin County. In September the group will perform as part of the Marin County exhibit at the California State Fair. All of the members live in Tiburon and include Mesdames Gerald Frellson, John Del Mar, Fred Zimmerman, George Berticevich, Harold Green and Miss Sue Boyden.

During the afternoon several groups will perform in addition to the Marin Junior Dancers. They include the Rikudom Group from San Francisco which specializes in Israeli dancing. Directed by Grace West they will dance the Hava Nagila.

Also during the afternoon several members of the Stuart Highlanders Pipe Band of San Francisco will appear. The group is directed by Roderick Aya of Belvedere. Another teen age group, the Pantelettes, directed by Dolly Seale, will also perform. Closing the afternoon show will be the International Dance Theater, directed by Madelynne Green, in a group of Bavarian dances.

The Nani Iolani group will appear in the evening show.

Others scheduled for this time are the Pan Pipers, directed by Grace West and featuring English Country Dancers. The Dance Guild of San Francisco, directed by Grace San Filippo, will present a set of Serbian dances and Chang's International Folk Dancers will show Russian dancers. This group is directed by Al Talbot of San Francisco.

Closing the festival will be the Ansambl Narodnih Igraca Sokoli Group, directed by John Scow of San Francisco. The group will perform a medley of dances from Yugoslavia. Scow teaches weekly Kolo classes in Sausalito.

Clean Woodwork

To keep varnished or shellacked woodwork clean, wash it with a cloth wrung from warm soap or detergent suds. Then rinse with clear water. When dry, rub the woodwork lightly with furniture polish, if desired.

For Pretty Hair

No matter how recently you may have had a shampoo, wash your hair again as soon as it begins to feel stiff or sticky, or to look dull.

Rumors Rampant That Italian Styles Will Show Unfitted-Fit

By PATRICIA GREEN

ROME (AP)—Rome's fall fashion show opens next Tuesday in the Palazzo Venezia and for the first time the designers will show their collections under one roof.

In the past, the 11 members that make up the Roman "alta moda" couture houses showed their collections separately and at different locations, making it difficult for out-of-town buyers and fashion writers.

Irene Brin, a pint-sized energetic writer for Italian, Spanish and American magazines, was instrumental in getting the fashion houses together.

Miss Brin, with the Roman couturiers, worked out a compact, co-ordinated package at the Palazzo Venezia. The show will last three days.

On July 12 boutique and accessory collections will be on view in the mosaic acre that used to be the private office of Benito Mussolini.

The actual showings will begin the following day in an adjoining room, massive with fresco and hung with a mammoth chandelier.

BIG GUNS

The last day will bring out the big guns: Fontana, Gattinoni, De Luca, Eleanora Garnett, and Baratta.

Rumors are rampant that the unfitted-fit is the big news in Italian fashion, and color, long a mainstay, is brighter than ever.

Fernanda Gattinoni and Eleanora Garnett are the feminists of the Roman group. Floaty chiffon, one of Garnett's favorite medium, is in every collection she makes. Gattinoni, famous for embroidery, always presents glittering examples of jeweling on the most elaborate fabrics.

NEW SKIRT

Gattinoni is also working on a new skirt she says is "a slight triangle with a lot of shape and a little stiffening." She claims it will be becoming to all figures.

De Luca, who has done tricky sleeves before, is planning to do something revolutionary with the arm. "I have created a new proportion that widens the top and skimps the skirt."

Fontana will only promise that her collection is rich with some of the most beautiful and sumptuous evening clothes ever made.

Bay Area Council Problem Is To Replace Frank Marsh

Sometimes an organization becomes personified in one man. This one individual can become so inexorably identified with the organization that to think of one is to think of the other.

Thus it has been with the San Francisco Bay Area Council. Since its inception 14 years ago, the Bay Area Council has been Frank E. Marsh and Frank E. Marsh has been the Bay Area Council.

We are not saying this in any way to belittle the considerable contributions of the many outstanding men who have headed the organization as presidents, officers and directors. Indeed, we believe that they would be among the first to agree with us that their executive vice president and general manager has been the catalyst which propelled the organization into activity, the counselor who both encouraged and guided, the worker who did the chores and carried out the programs.

It would be unthinkable to not acknowledge the warmth and friendship which Frank Marsh displayed in both his public and private activities. He's the only man we know who sends a wedding present to the father of the bride, a gracious and considerate thought.

Now Frank Marsh has announced that the end of next month he will step out of the Bay Area Council. We can't imagine what the organization will be like without him.

A similar instance occurred a few months ago when Clyde Edmundson retired from the Redwood Empire Association. The REA has been extremely fortunate in finding a man able to carry on in Edmundson's post. We hope that the Bay Area Council is also as successful. But it's going to be difficult.

The Eerie Voice Of Night

Ever awaken in the night to hear a spooky-sounding tremolo cry outside the window? It was probably repeated a number of times.

It is a bit unnerving the first time heard, but after we realize it is only a screech owl, probably calling to its mate, we relax and enjoy its weird solo. Sometimes we can hear an answering call in the distance.

Screech owls are fairly common in Marin but, like most owls, they are usually heard and not seen. They are wonderfully adapted to their specialty of night hunting for small rodents. Their large eyes are particularly sensitive to light, enabling them to see under conditions which seem like almost total darkness to us. Their senses of hearing and smell are similarly highly developed.

To most of us who will never see an owl outside a zoo or museum, the numerous family will be known as a variety of eerie voices in the night—and the most eerie of them all is the shuddering cry of the screech owl.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

DON'T LET CRITICISM STOP YOU

"The dogs bark, but the caravan moves on" is an age-old proverb that has a valuable lesson for those bothered by unfair criticism.

When the big caravan stops even momentarily to argue with the little dogs, it suffers two losses. Progress is held up and the barking is usually increased rather than lessened.

The next time friend or foe heckles you unfairly, pleasantly ignore it and keep merrily "moving on" about your business. Unjust criticism or fault-finding invariably ceases when it is not contested.

Just as dogs eventually stop barking when nobody pays attention to them, so do chronic critics drop their complaining if they are not taken seriously or are disregarded altogether.

Be true to God, to yourself and to others in pursuing your mission in life and no amount of criticism will ever dissuade you, much less stop you.

"Everyone in a contest obstains from all things." (1 Corinthians 9:25)

Teach me, O Jesus, to rise above petty criticism.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

It's A Battle To Board A Bus In New York, Then Stay With It

By ART MERIMS
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — A neglected phase of how to succeed in New York is mastering the art of riding the big town's buses.

The veteran of surface transport lines becomes a pal with forces of gravity, motion and balance. He becomes familiar with exotic dialects, and learns the psychoanalytic mysteries first probed by Freud, Jung and Adler. He must know instantly every possible change combination for a dollar bill.

New York bus drivers are determined to pass you by, specially if you are alone on a rainy day without an umbrella.

Then there is a phenomenon which is known simply as "the plot" to weary waiters. Three buses arrive together at a stop. The first bus is jammed, the next in line has a few passengers, and the third is empty.

The expert boards the first, aware that the drivers are determined to keep things as is. If you try for the second or third vehicle, the door slams and the bus moves off—and you'll probably have to wait half an hour for another gregarious convoy.

For those who do get on, the next gambit is paying the 15-cent fare. The expert always has the exact change, even if it means first buying a packet of cough drops at the corner drugstore.

Handing the driver a quarter or half-dollar entails a strenuous, swaying pause as the vehicle veers into traffic. Passengers with the correct change have taken any available seats.

The great objective always is to find a seat. If you are a woman you will probably have to stand, especially if you are elderly and not agile among competitors. Wedged upright, beware of your neighbor's spike heels when the bus lurches. Mutter softly when your foot is trod on. Short cries of pain are permitted when an umbrella is ground into your ankle.

ONCE SEATED, other problems arise. A neighbor bubbling with joy can be stared out of it. Whistlers and hummers are disconcerted if you start another tune. As for the constant sneezer—better give up your seat.

WHEN GETTING OFF, you may spot beaten seat rivals still standing nearby. Prepare for resistance. Mastery of the sidestep-leap is important here. The surprise exit, though risky, is often the best.

Yes, you can succeed in buses. But it takes practice.

"I'LL STOP THE CRITTER"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Distressed About Stand Of Doctors

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have sent the following letter to the Marin Medical Society:

Gentlemen:

I wish to express my disappointment in your selection of Dr. Ralph Jacobs as your representative at the June 28 meeting called by the Marin Pure Water Committee in the interest of an all out dental health campaign.

The purpose of the meeting was to inaugurate a county-wide oral health campaign as an alternative to fluoridation of the public water supply. Success of any such program necessarily involves the cooperation of the County Health Department and the Medical and Dental Societies. For this reason it was hoped that all participants would attend with an objective attiture prepared, at least, to give fair attention to the suggestions made.

Dr. Jacobs, however, arriving after the meeting was under way, limited his participation to reading a statement obviously prepared before he had listened to any of the points raised at the meeting. It is difficult to accept the concept that the Marin County Medical Society as a body would authorize such a cursory interest in a public meeting on a matter of such importance to every citizen of Marin County.

With the Marin Pure Water Committee endeavoring to institute a dental health program even involving fluoridated water prepared for consumption by any family that might so choose, it would appear that the only point of issue concerning fluoridation was the method. In other words, the principle having been established, the method is secondary.

From the statement of Dr. Jacob's, however, and his assertion that he was authorized to speak for the entire County Medical Society, one can only conclude that fluoridation via the public water supply is the matter of greatest importance to the County Medical Society. From this it must also be concluded that the Marin Medical Society is not interested in other steps which would work towards the reduction of dental decay.

Again it is hard to believe that the entire Marin County Medical Society has such a closed mind on the subject and it is to be hoped that if further meetings are held a more cooperative representative would attend in your behalf.

Over 19,000 citizens indicated that they are not interested in fluoridation of the public water supply and it should be expected that the County Medical Society would recognize this freedom of choice and give their support to other methods of improving the dental health of the population.

Programs leading to socialized medicine are presently being opposed, and rightly so, by the major medical organizations in the United States. Mass medication by public authorities is one long step down the road to socialized medicine, by putting the power to prescribe under the control of governmental rather than medical supervision. It would seem logical that if opposition to socialized medicine is sincere that at least courteous attention might be given to alternative suggestions by your society or representatives thereof.

Small Cars Causing Decrease In Gas Taxes Available For Roads

SACRAMENTO (C N S) — While California's gasoline tax revenue has increased during the past couple of years, the increase has not been in proportion to other taxes collected by the state, nor to the increase in population, or in the number of automobiles registered.

The staff of the state Board of Equalization, concerned in the collection of the tax, is attempting to figure out the answer, according to Harold D. Abbott, in charge of the division. Estimates must be made for budget purposes, and in addition, the falling off of any tax is the green light for some legislators to consider increases to keep the revenue up to par.

THE NORMAL rate of increase for the gas tax has been from five to seven per cent per year, according to Abbott, but last year's was marked by only a three per cent increase.

This means millions of dollars in what might be termed revenue loss for the construction of new highways, even though technically, there is no loss if the state never possessed the money.

The most apparent answer to the decrease in gasoline sales is the advent of first, the small foreign cars which to date have captured about 10 per cent of the new car market in the United States. Second, the introduction of small cars by the three American leading manufacturers.

LEADERS OF the National Highway Users Conference, a group interested in improving public highways, are disturbed over the lower gas consumption. They predict that if the present trend continues, gas tax revenues will be some $548 million below current estimates, amounting to a federal loss of $217 million besides the balance lost to the states.

Once again, the consumer probably will be caught in the middle. Should his desire for less expensive operations for transportation cause an increase in gasoline taxes, much of the benefit of the small car would be lost.

On the other hand, the small car owner, with an automobile weighing a ton, causes less damage to the highways than an average 3,500 pound car.

Thus, the small car invasion is going to create some ticklish problems in the future, whether it be in 1961, or at a subsequent legislature.

ONE OF THE problems might well be the question of an entire revision of the gas tax revenue laws. The entire populace benefits from an excellent system of highways. Yet only the car owner and user of the highways are charged for their construction and maintenance.

While it's hardly conceivable at the present time that too much gas tax money ever will be collected, there might be a time in the future when this would happen.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Charles Chaplin Jr., in his revealing book about his famous father, tells of the latter's acute aversion to the telephone. He wouldn't talk over one. Just to hear one ringing, in fact, sent him off in a tirade. "Bloody racket," he would shout. "Blast the fools who invented it! Shut it off! Shut it off!"

And yet, when the time came to invest his money, what stock do you think Charlie Chaplin favored above all others? You guessed it! American Tel and Tel!

An ill wind blew a Martian to the stage door of a summer theatre. He buttonholed the neurotic director of same and ordered, "Take me to your leader." The director yawned and replied languidly, "You'll have to rehearse that line some more, dear boy. Your diction is deplorable."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Steps In Mill Valley Are Wooden, In Mokanshan They Were Stone

Stumbling drowsily down a long flight of tree-shaded outdoor stairs, I wondered suddenly—"Mill Valley or Mokanshan?"

Then I realized the steps were wood, not stone. So I knew I must be in Mill Valley.

There are powerful similarities between these lovely spots in Marin County and China, with one big difference: No insurance inspectors roam the bamboo mountain of Mokanshan.

But I hear that in Mill Valley a lot of chairbound casualty experts have been road testing flaccid muscles by checking over public steps insured by the municipality.

ALL THAT is new stuff to me. Never would have come to mind save for improvements reported by wife, Agnes, a confirmed "step walker."

In days gone by she commuted from our ridge-top to the fleshpots of San Francisco. No firm believer in the motorcar, she used to clip off the down-hill run from front door to Greyhound stop in a neat 11 minutes flat, about equal to the hundred yards in nine seconds.

This entailed using half-hidden flights of steps to cut across loops in the winding roads up our hill.

ROSS BENSON, Mill Valley public works superintendent, says there are more similarities between those and China's mountains than meet the eye.

"Seems they're about the same—nobody knows who built them, or when, in either case," says he. "A lot of people here don't want the steps touched. They like 'em rustic."

But on the lovely mountain of Mokanshan far south of Shanghai, where I used to hike up the stone steps while coolies carried frailer folk in sedan chairs, nobody cared one way or t'other. The steps were there, that was that.

In Mill Valley, it seems, insurers against city responsibility on the public roads suddenly realized that they had responsibility for steps too—in case, that is, the stepthoroughfares had been "dedicated" to the city.

So when Agnes discovered that ramshackle steps between Hillside and Oakdale Avenues had suddenly come back to like new, it turned out there was a reason. These were among the flights where if you hurt yourself due to poor step condition (your own condition is your own business) you might hold the city liable.

It was up to Mill Valley to bring the steps up to "city standards," whatever those are, or abandon.

JUST WHAT a step-standard is, I still dunno. There's a lot of room for good hard work by some efficient reporter like the I.-J.'s Bruce Coleman of Mill Valley Bureau.

And so long as you're doing the work, Bruce old boy, keep your eye peeled for some sort of official disclaimer of responsibility for public-used steps on private property.

I can't find out just how it will be handled. Maybe the city will post notices that if you bust a leg on those steps you'll have to shoot yourself with your own gun.

OUT IN CHINA it was all up to you, wherever you went. And the foreigner who did his own trudging instead of patronizing the chair-coolies was wished a little bad luck for depressing the local economy.

There was a difference about what was up at the top of the steps in China.

In Mill Valley, there stands Blue Buster the family sports car, reproachful at being denied exercise. But up in the little village atop Mokanshan there was not one wheeled vehicle to roll over the stone lanes.

At the time it seemed a mighty good idea.

Congress Recess Made To Order For Demos–If It Doesn't Blow Up

WASHINGTON — Calling Congress into session after the conventions and before the campaign was an inescapable decision filled with political explosives.

It was unavoidable because urgent pending bills could not possibly have been dealt with in the few days remaining before Democratic congressmen had to get to Los Angeles.

The decision could be a political boon to the Democrats, but there are risks. It means attempting to legislate seriously when partisanship will be at fever-pitch and when every decision will be overlaid with vote-getting temptations.

NEVER BEFORE has Congress ever met voluntarily after the nominating conventions and on the eve of the presidential election. This in itself shows that over the years the members of Congress have recognized that this is the worst possible time to legislate—and have governed themselves accordingly.

Congress did convene once under these circumstances—involuntarily. That was in 1948 when President Truman used his acceptance speech at the Democratic convention to call the then Republican-controlled 80th Congress into special session "to live up to" its platform promises.

THE SITUATION is quite different today.

Then Truman was summoning a hostile Congress into special session on the gamble that it would do nothing. It did nothing. And Truman campaigned accordingly against the allegedly "do-nothing" 80th Congress which had supported him on more crucial foreign policy measures (aid to Greece and Turkey, the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Treaty) than any Congress in such a short period.

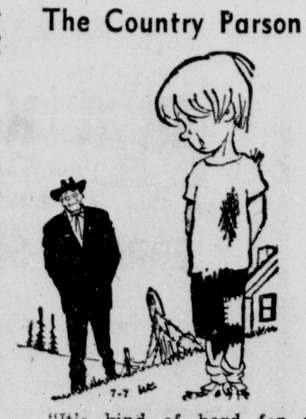

This time the Democratic leaders, Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, have arranged for a recess session of Congress in August because they couldn't help it. The calendar was just too filled with incompleted legislation. They will be dealing with a Congress controlled by their own party and over which they have great influence. They will not want anything to go haywire; they will not want an irresponsible session. Their own leadership will be exerted to that end.

I DOUBT IF the Democratic leaders would have risked this session if it could have been averted. But many of them will seize the opportunity to shape pocketbook legislation to catch votes.

In less than a month after the Democratic platform is drafted in Los Angeles, this recess Congress will be in session, its Democratic leadership (probably including its presidential nominee) will have in their hands a series of platform commitments to redeem or to pass over.

It's made to order — if it doesn't blow up.

LOOPHOLE FOUND IN THE CORRAL

Council (Bad Guys) Drygulches Hoss, But Boy Gets Him Back

PORT JERVIS, N. Y. (UPI)—Horse opera heroes always kiss the hoss instead of the girl and 15-year-old Steven Travis knows why.

For a man without his horse is like a spaceman without a rocket—nowhere.

Steven lost his horse when the city fathers drygulched him with a zoning ordinance prohibiting livestock in the backyard. A downwind neighbor had complained.

He got him back after a running legal gunbattle that recalled the old Dodge City.

It started thisaway:

Last December, Steven's father, Theron (a good guy) bought a 5-year-old Texas cayuse named Forway for his son to ride while recovering from a minor leg injury. They corralled him in the back yard.

After a happy winter of a boy and his horse galloping over the knolls and nearby meadows, spring arrived. People started opening their windows.

In May, the downwind neighbor (bad guy) complained to the city's common council (neutral guys) that Forway's presence violated zoning rules against keeping livestock.

City corporation counsel L. Ray Glass (good guy) said Forway was not livestock, he was a riding animal.

But Mayor James T. Murphy and zoning official Frank Innella (bad guys) said Forway was livestock and to get that nag out of town by sundown 30 days hence.

The councilmen (bad guys) agreed with Murphy and Innella. Murphy (how bad can you get?) further said that if the horse wasn't removed Glass should either bring Travis to law or resign.

Glass (good guy) refused to do either. The council (not so bad after all) told him to get more information and gave Travis a two-week extension of his deadline.

But Travis didn't want to involve his son in all this legal gunslinging so on June 19 he stabled Forway outside the city limits.

There was an empty saddle in the new corral. Neighborhood children who had known and petted and fed horse goodies to Forway were downcast. Steven was like the spaceman—nowhere.

But this week when it looked like the bad guys had won, the tables were turned. On Monday the council (good guys, definitely) relented, saying it appeared the Travis corral was not in the zone that bans livestock.

Forway could come home. And Travis said he would build a new corral farther away from the anti-horse neighbor.

On Independence Day, Steven rode his horse the three miles home to a welcome by small neighborhood Forway-lovers that made hard-bitten railsitters gulp.

"Forway's back! Forway's come home!" the children shouted, trailing the boy and his horse to the corral.

"There fella," said Steven, "nobody's going to send you away again."

All In 39 Years

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny, 39, got some kind words from television's Polly Bergen on a recent visit to her hometown.

She called Benny "a man I've admired since I was a child, that my parents have admired since they were children and that their parents admired since they were children."

School Board Passes Budget Of $108,230

The West Marin School District board Tuesday night approved a $108,230 preliminary budget for 1960-61 — $2,345 higher than last year's total.

Supt. George Stratton said the district's general purpose tax rate of $1.48 probably would remain the same or be reduced slightly.

Most of the increase in the budget is for salary hikes. Instructional salaries total $80,215. Provision is made for hiring an extra teacher, if necessary.

About $2,700 is set aside for renovation of the Inverness School building, including replacement of the floor and repainting of the entire structure.

The board reorganized for the coming year, re-electing Dr. Gordon Plattes, president; Donald J. McIsaac, clerk, and Gus Kovats, trustee representative. The second Monday of the month was set as the regular meeting date.

The coast line of Florida measures slightly more than 1,000 miles.

Pictures Of Sausalito To Be Shown In Chile

Sausalito is assembling pictures for a photographic exhibit to be displayed at Vina Del Mar, Chile, during the Chilean-North American week fair Nov. 20-27.

Mrs. M. Justin Herman, reporting on sister city activities at this week's city council meeting, said photographer Ted Castle is to make the display. She invited persons interested in submitting pictures on various aspects of life in Sausalito, such as people, events, architecture and scenery to participate.

Photographs, she said, should be sent to Castle at 264 Glen Drive, Sausalito, before Aug. 31.

Mrs. Herman, chairman of the Sausalito People-to-People committee, asked that those sending pictures write name, address and telephone numbers on the reverse side. Also, to have photographs returned, a self-addressed, stamped envelope should be sent with the pictures. All photographs should be in black and white, Mrs. Herman said.

The chairman reported $1,400 was being sent to the United States ambassador in Santiago with a request he use the money in the Chilean disaster areas to the best of his abilities. The amount, Mrs. Herman said, was the final sum raised in the recent drive.

Some Advice For Teen-Agers Thinking About Going Steady

Have teen-agers who want to go steady? Here's some advice for them. I'm writing to young people today.

Be careful, kids. Don't take up with the first person who looks your way. Going steady is important. You must be choosy. When you go steady, you get very close. You're sure to have a crush. You'll call it love. Your whole life could be harmed.

Go steady only with a person you honestly admire and trust. Go only with someone your parents approve of. Beware of the kids your friends say would be bad for you. Their judgment probably is better than yours.

How can you attract the right person?

First, look at your appearance. Are you correctly dressed? Do you keep yourself clean? Are you as attractive as nature permits? Then look to your personality. Are you interested in only yourself? Do you always monopolize the conversation or can you listen as much as you talk? Are you generous? Can you give in gracefully? Are you friendly and happy or sullen and resentful? You can improve your personality. You do it by making a consistent effort to improve over a long period of time.

Next, look to your social skills.

Can you dance reasonably well? Can you swim? Can you hold your own in the recreational activities the gang enjoys? Social skills aren't magic. Everyone must learn them. You'll be a dub at first. Don't let it throw you. Keep trying and you'll succeed.

When should you start going steady? It depends on you, your parents and your neighborhood. Don't start until you can trust yourself to use good judgment. Don't go steady without your parents' permission. Don't be the first to go steady in your group. Be moderate. Avoid extremes.

PRISON TOUGHS AREN'T TOUGH, AT LEAST IN MUSCLE STRENGTH

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The tough guys in California's prisons really aren't, the State Corrections Department reports.

A survey of 300 newly committed inmates earlier this year showed that nine of 10 convicts were below the general average in muscular strength and general fitness.

John Barrie, supervisor of recreation at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville made the study.

All newly committed prisoners must pass through a reception center before being assigned to a prison.

Barrie gave a standard physical fitness test to the 300 inmates and found that 87 per cent couldn't make a score of 100—considered average for the general population.

What does it mean?

The Corrections Department says there is strong evidence that mental health and attitude is affected by physical condition.

Thus, a prisoner's physical condition could be an important factor in successful parole and social adjustment.

The lack of physical fitness also has implications for the state's new conservation camp program, in which several thousand convicts are to be put to work on conservation programs.

The tough guys will have to be toughened up.

No Tax Planned For Flood Zone

No tax rate has been provided during the fiscal year 1960-61 for Flood Control Zone 3, Richardson Bay. Last year's rate was 2 cents.

Recommendation of the county auditor's office against imposition of a tax rate for the zone was approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday on motion by Supervisor Vera L. Schultz of Mill Valley.

"Nothing will develop this year," Mrs. Schultz commented.

Last year $8,381.78 was spent with $541.44 to June 30 this year. The zone has an unencumbered balance of $10,682.22.

Oconomowoc, a town in Wisconsin, gets its name from an Indian word meaning "home of the beaver."

Holiday Crowds Prompt Brown To Call For More State Parks

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A record 770,000 persons jammed California's state parks over the July Fourth weekend, the governor's office reported yesterday.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said it calls for more parks, and promised a stepped up program in the 1961-62 budget.

Brown said Charles A. DeTurk, beaches and parks chief, reported these experiences:

Pfeiffer-Big, Sur State Park near Monterey was forced to close its gates because of traffic jams on park roads.

Folsom Lake State Park near Sacramento had the largest attendance — more than 30,000 on July 3 and 4.

Huntington Beach had capacity crowds of 19,000 daily. Orange County's Bolsa Chica, once called "tin can beach" and still undeveloped, had 23,200 over the three-day holiday.

Humboldt Redwoods State Park near Eureka turned away 1,108 carloads of campers on July 2, 1,012 on July 3, and 792 on July 4. Attendance topped 17,000 each day.

Capacity crowds of more than 2,000 visited Hearst San Simeon State Historical Monument on Saturday and Sunday. About 350 were turned away on Sunday.

The oldest wooden house still standing in the United States—and in good condition—is believed to be the Fairbanks House in Dedham, Mass., built in 1636.
